THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Ruddy)

The beginning of a New Year is the time for a look at the distant scene. Most of us stand appalled, if we think at all, at what presents itself before our eyes. The Scripture statement, "darkness hath covered the earth, and gross darkness the people," seems to have come to pass in many forms. Is there any remedy? Surely, if we are honest with ourselves we shall see it in God's Word! Looking at the scene can only make a man fear if he has no inner confidence, no calm assurance, no faith in the ultimate triumph of good. These things are found in the quiet meditative study of the Bible. Read it each day, and you will be able to say with a great hymn writer — "One step enough for me."

REMEMBER, YOU NEED MORE ROOM! Leave lots of room between your car and the one ahead — you'll need extra stopping space under winter conditions. Wintertime is the time when road courtesy is most essential — give the other drivers a break! Snowbanks or drifting snow may conceal stalled vehicles, hidden driveways, intersections and pedestrians.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover Harold, R.R. 2, Dies

As a result of injuries received in an automobile accident at Ross' Corners, three miles north of Belleville on Highway No. 14, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, of Harold, died in Belleville General Hospital on Saturday night, December 27th.

A son, Stewart Hoover, 42, his wife and two daughters, were also hospitalized. Mrs. Hoover and two daughters have since been discharged from hospital and are staying with relatives in Belleville but Mr. Hoover who was seriously injured is still in hospital.

Provincial Police at Belleville said the Hoover auto was southbound on No. 14 Highway when just south of the 14th Concession of Thurlow it was in a head-on collision with a northbound truck, driven by Jack E. S. Smith, of Foxboro.

Mr. Smith told police that as he rounded a curve he was forced to the right shoulder by an approaching car. His truck then veered back onto the highway where it collided with the Hoover car.

The accident occurred shortly after five o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Hoover died in hospital six hours later.

Born in Rawdon Township, the late Mrs. Hoover was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Stewart and was in her 71st year. She was a life-long resident of the district and was a member of Bethel United Church and Woman's Auxiliary.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John (Leatha) McInroy, of Stirling, and Mrs. Donald (Lula) Reid, of Ivanhoe; one son, Stewart, at home, and five grandchildren. Her husband predeceased her nineteen years ago.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Byron Heath, of Bonarlaw; Mrs. Archie Haslett, of Belleville; Mrs. Chris Burditt, of Springbrook, and two brothers, William and Charles Stewart, of Campbellford.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, December 30th from the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, to Bethel United Church for the service which was conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A. Mrs. Don Heath contributed a vocal selection with Mrs. Harold Elliott as accompanist.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Burton Morton, Kenneth Tompkins, Reg McGee, Frederick Beckett, William Heath and Glenn Heath.

Interment was made in Wellman's Cemetery.

AMID A FLURRY OF SCREAMING SIRENS

New York police recently converged on Manhattan Bridge and finally coaxed a man, perched 40 feet up on a girder, to come down.

They asked 50-year-old Edward J. Haggerty why he did it. He confessed: "I'm a bridge inspector for the department of public works."

Horticultural Society Hints

Now that outside gardening chores are completed for this season, it is time to turn our thoughts to the gardening tools. Check your spraying and dusting equipment to be sure it's in working order — especially sprayers used with weed chemicals. Use plenty of soap and hot water, rinse well and let dry before storing. Oil and clean all parts and where necessary, replace or repair.

Hand garden tools all have two handles in common. A head and a handle. Because neither can function without the other, give them both good care. Rust is the biggest problem with tools. Even new tools, once used, start gathering a layer of rust. It is not use that causes rust. Storage rust ruins tools quicker than any amount of hard work. Keep tools clean and bright, seal out moisture and air during storage. To clean, sand heads in direction they are normally used. Seal clean surfaces with light oil.

A broken handle doesn't automatically make a tool a victim for the junk pile. A replacement can make it as good as new. Smooth either old or new handles with fine sand paper, then rub down with turpentine soaked cloth, then seal with linseed oil. Paint metal ferrule with bright coloured paint.

Repair and repaint any trellises or lawn furniture.

Make stakes and markers for spring use, a little green paint brushed on them blends with the foliage, making them less conspicuous.

Some men wouldn't recognize the religion they profess if they were to meet it face to face.

The trouble with a chronic borrower is that he always keeps everything but his word.

HOW TO BEAT A SKID — If you're going too fast when you skid, the car won't always respond to the wheel. When in doubt — slow down! If you start to skid, turn the front wheels in the direction of the skid. Don't brake and don't accelerate. Remember skidding is more apt to occur when the temperature is about 32 degrees than when it's colder.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Mills)

DON'T BE SCARED

In 1959, Canadians should stop being scared. Fear petrifies. Mostly, men fear change; yet change often brings enormous benefits.

Consider our unfounded fear of new inventions. Men expect each new invention to rob them of jobs. Instead, automation increased the number of jobs and made them easier.

Look at our textile industry. When man-made fibres were invented, timid folk thought they'd be put out of work. Instead, wiser heads in the Canadian textile industry adopted the new processes themselves, and today 50 establishments give direct employment to 15,000 Canadians, and pay $50 million a year in wages and salaries. True, some of these plants are going broke because they cannot compete with imports from countries where wages are pitifully low; but even that problem will be solved; if the industry makes a good case before the tariff board now holding hearings.

Attempts are being made to frighten farmers about vertical integration, contract farming, and the entry of businessmen into the farming business. Fright is not the proper reaction; fright paralyzes. Instead, there is a lesson to be learned when businessmen see high profits to be made. Businessmen are certainly not going into the farming business to spite anybody; they are going into it to make money, just as farmers have established quite a few businesses for the same purpose, and are perfectly free to establish more of them. If they are wise, however, they will examine their motivation — if you start a business for spite, you will lose money. The proper motive for establishing a successful business is profit — in return for service. But farmers have the edge over others in the farming business, because they have skill and experience, and they should not need to fear inexperienced competition. If they do fear it, some soul-searching is in order.

Fear fades when trouble is met head-on by intelligent action. Change will always come. It will bring benefits to those who act; pain only to those who wait always to sit still. Let's welcome 1959 with courage. Don't be scared; be active.

Mrs. Ashley Brooks President St. Paul's Woman's Association

The January meeting of St. Paul's W.A. was held on Tuesday afternoon, January 6th in the Church basement with Mrs. Ashley Brooks and Mrs. Charles Davidson as hostesses.

The President, Mrs. R. A. Patterson, opened the meeting with a word of welcome, followed by the theme song of the W.A. and prayer.

This being the annual meeting, the various reports were given, all showing a very interesting, active and prosperous year for 1958. A short business period was conducted to clear up all matters concerning 1958.

Mrs. A. Packman took over as installing officer. She paid tribute to all past officers and members of the W.A. for their fine work during the past year. She then proceeded to welcome and install the new officers.

The new President, Mrs. Ashley Brooks and her new executive, took charge of the meeting. The worship service was centered around the First Commandment and thoughts for the New Year. The hymn, "O God of Good the Unfathomable Sea" was sung, followed by a New Year's prayer. The Scripture Lessons taken from Matthew 6: 1-9 and Matthew 22: 34-40, were read by Mrs. H. David and Mrs. D. Duffin, respectively, with Mrs. R. Tucker giving the commentary.

Mrs. R. Patterson gave an appropriate talk on "What we want in the new year." Mrs. H. West, accompanied by Mrs. H. David on the piano, rendered a beautiful solo, "Till Walk

With God." "New Year Thoughts for the 1959 Year," was the title of a reading given by Mrs. C. Potter.

Some business pertaining to the new year was discussed, after which the hymn, "O For A Thousand Tongues To Sing," followed by the W.A. benediction brought the meeting to a close.

The new executive served a hot cup of tea and a tasty lunch. Mrs. Wm. Brown expressed the thanks of all present.

Entered Into Rest

ROBERT T. BURGESS

Robert Thomas Burgess, Front St., Stirling, died suddenly on Saturday, December 27th at Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Burgess, who was employed as a tool and die maker for the Ford Motor Company at Chicago Heights, had been home for the Christmas holiday and took suddenly ill. He was in his 63rd year.

Born in Montreal, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Burgess, he had lived at Oshawa before coming to Stirling. He was employed for a time by the Bata Shoe Company and later conducted a grocery business in this village. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Evelyn Rose Bourne, three daughters, Mrs. Donald (Denise) Rikely, of Markham; Mrs. Robert (Lois) Bird, of Stirling, and Miss Carole Mae Burgess, at home, and one son Neil Burgess, of Stirling.

One grandson and a sister, Mrs. J. Brooks, Montreal, also survive.

The funeral took place from the Duffin Funeral Home on Monday afternoon to St. John's Anglican Church where service was conducted by Rev. R. Gale.

Pallbearers were Messrs. R. A. Patterson, H. J. Wells, H. C. Bird, Bernard Farrell, J. V. Holt and Mel Tanner.

Entombment in Stirling Vault.

Honoured With Crystal Shower

Recently a shower in honour of Carol Poste, a December bride, was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Fenton, Lewis St., Belleville.

When the guest of honour arrived the staff of Prince of Wales School, where she formerly taught, were busy compiling a scrapbook of the Life of the Bride and Groom from pictures obtained from magazines. During the evening each teacher embroidered her name on a tea towel for Carol.

Upon completion of games, introduced by Miss Barbara Brown, Carol was presented with crystal and other gifts to be used in her married life.

A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the serving of a delicious lunch of fancy sandwiches and cookies.

The bride-to-be expressed her sincere thanks and invited all to visit her at her new home, Harold R.R. 1.

The Good Driver

Only diseases of the heart, and cancer, outrank accidents as a killer in western nations; and traffic is the No. 1 cause of accidental deaths. The basic problem of traffic danger is very much the same the world over, wherever there are cars and careless or incompetent drivers.

The basic solutions to this horrifying problem are the same the whole world over, also — better Education, Enforcement and Engineering. But different countries attempt to apply the solutions in different ways. The Ontario Safety League offers these random notes on accident prevention efforts in other lands:

In France the teaching of road safety in schools has been obligatory since 1947.

The West German Minister of Transport has decreed that mascots that are more than 1 and 3-16 inch high, or have a sharp pointed profile are no longer allowed on German cars.

In South Africa they have a word for the roof-clutching driver — "gorilla." Traffic officers in the city of Durban consistently charge people who ride with an arm sticking out of the car, and prosecutions have now dropped from about 100 to 50 every month. "Gorilla" passengers are charged independently.

"How to Get to Jail Quickly" has been published in Puerto Rico to emphasize the necessity of obtaining a driver licence before driving a car.

Many European countries find it possible to get cyclists to conform to traffic regulations. (Note — Ontario had 1120 car/bicycle collisions in 1957, killing 32 cyclists, 21 of whom were under 15 years of age).

Sweden imposes a mandatory jail sentence of 30 days on anyone who is found to have the slightest trace of alcohol in his blood when driving, or when preparing to drive.

The Pennsylvania Superior Court has ruled that falling asleep behind the wheel is reckless driving.

Inaugural Meeting of Municipal Council Held On Monday Night

Members Took Oath of Office At 11.00 a.m. — Evening Session Was Lengthy Naming of standing committees for the year, making appointments to the various municipal bodies and discussion of routine matters marked the inaugural meeting of Village Council on Monday.

Members of Council took the oath of office at 11 a.m. Monday morning, after which Reeve Kenneth Ray gave his inaugural address in which he welcomed the new members of Council and asked for the co-operation of Councillors in carrying out the affairs of the Village.

Evening Session

At the evening session, which opened at 7 o'clock and continued past the midnight hour, all members of Council were present and Reeve Ray in the chair.

Chief Constable Sutherland addressed Council relative to the control of dogs in the municipality due to the prevalence of rabies in the surrounding district.

Fire Chief R. E. Fox spoke of the work of the Fire Brigade and the duties of the chief. He requested an increase in salary and when queried as to the amount suggested $300.00. There were twelve members and the Chief on the Volunteer Fire Brigade, stated Mr. Fox and the men received $3.00 for the first hour and $2.00 for each subsequent hour.

Clerk F. R. Mallory tabled correspondence from the Village of Marmora thanking the Stirling Fire Brigade for assistance at a fire in that municipality recently; from the Ontario Good Roads Association relative to the 65th Convention on February 23-25th; from R. W. Meiklejohn, secretary of the Public School Board, asking for $5000 for current expenses, $2500 in February and March; from Hisey & Barrington, relative to sewerage system; from Stirling Horticultural Society, relative to Coronation Park, and from Rural Municipal Association relative to Convention on February 16-17.

On motion of Councillors Morton and West, it was decided to join the Good Roads Association and pay $30 towards the expenses of each delegate.

On the request from the Public School Board it was pointed out that, according to the Auditor's Report, the requisition of the Board in the past had been overpaid $1790.27. On motion of Councillors Tompkins and West the Clerk was instructed to advance the Board $5000 as required with the stipulation that the Board make provision for clearing up the amount of $1790.27 in their annual requisition in June next.

The Horticultural Society's request for control of Coronation Park in 1959 was granted, subject to the approval of the Parks Committee of Council.

Police Constable Sutherland presented his monthly report, which was accepted on motion of Councillors West and Morton.

The tax collector's time was extended three months on motion of Councillors West and Morton.

Don W. Rodgers was reappointed to the Stirling-Rawdon District High School Board for one year on motion of Councillors Bateman and West.

The question of the supply of fuel oil for the Library and Council Chamber was discussed and on motion of Councillors Morton and West tenders will be called for the same.

Dogs Not Allowed To Run

A discussion ensued on the rabies situation in the surrounding area, and on motion of Councillors C. Bateman and R. K. West the local dog bylaw, which requires that all dogs be tied up, was extended to the twelve months of the year. This action was taken due to the incidence of rabies and the resultant danger to children. J. V. Holt addressed Council wishing them well in their endeavours in 1959 and offering his assistance at

The meeting closed with a social hour.

On motion of Councillors Morton and Tompkins the Clerk was instructed to write the Minister of Planning and Development for a synopsis of the necessary steps towards forming a Planning Board.

A partial list of appointments were made and salaries set on the by-law but owing to the fact that several necessary appointments were not made at this time and certain positions were to be filled after tenders were called, it was moved, seconded and carried that the by-law be not completed until the next meeting of the Council.

River Valley W.I. will be hostess for West Hastings District Annual in June. It was decided to make arrangements for the I.O.O.F. banquet Hall for that occasion. There will be two more card parties in January and a pot luck supper for members and their families and the Valley community folk. This will be at the I.O.O.F. banquet hall on Friday evening, January 30th.

Mrs. Ross Bush will be hostess on February 5th and the January programme will be given at that meeting as there wasn't time on Thursday.

Mrs. Ed. Heasman gave a full report of the building committee and itemized the expenditures. A lengthy discussion followed.

Mrs. Mary Vandervoort sent an aluminum tray as a gift for the new kitchen.

Mrs. Roy Irven read a New Year's poem. Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh read an article from the loan library on the subject "Wedding customs of long ago," which was of interest.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Friendship Secretary, distributed a gift of a nylon purse size comb to each member of River Valley W.I. from the members of Abbot's Leigh W.I. in England. The rest of the programme was carried over to February and the singing of God Save the Queen closed the meeting.

The hostess and lunch committee served light refreshments and were tendered a vote of thanks.

FORD 1959

SO BEAUTIFULLY RIGHT
IN EVERY WAY

This is the car that makes such beautiful sense for 1959 — because it's designed to meet every kind of driving need today. And that is exactly what it does. Beautifully.

This new Ford has a clean, crisp look — trim and tough — fast on its feet. And it's a big car. But there isn't an ounce of waste fat on it. You don't need a can opener to pry it out of your garage. And it'll fit very neatly between two parking meters. But it's plenty big inside. There's room enough for the whole family to travel clean across Canada with all the ease and comfort that only a big car is able to give you. All the facts point to Ford in '59 ... and so does the fun!

Sheldon - Bailey
Nuptials At Carmel

A lovely Christmas wedding was solemnized on Saturday, December 27th, 1952, at 2:00 p.m. in the Carmel United Church by Rev. A. Packman, Minister of the Church, when Joyce Isabelle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Bailey, R.R. 3, Stirling, became the bride of George Clarence Sheldon, of Toronto, son of Mrs. Robert Hopper and the late Mr. Chas. Sheldon.

A lovely Christmas tree, ferns and poinsettia adorned the front of the Church, while the guest pews were designated by white bows.

The soloist, Mrs. Gerald Clancy, of Wellman's, sang before the ceremony "The Wedding Prayer" and during the signing of the register, "Because" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by the church pianist, Mrs. Arthur Pyear, who also rendered the processional and recessional music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of white Swiss silver metallic brocade, fashioned in ballerina length on princess lines made with a deep V-neckline with fitted bodice, having a matching jacket with a high stand-up collar and buttoned front with long lining point sleeves, which were buttoned at the wrists. The fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a bandeau of white taffeta. She carried a white Testament crested with red sweetheart roses and white satin streamers knotted with tiny matching rosebuds. Her only adornment was a single strand of pearls which her mother wore on her wedding day.

Mrs. Glenn F. Hubel, of R.R. 3, Stirling, as matron of honour, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue taffeta with gold brocade made on princess lines with a deep V neckline. She wore a white feathered hat, pearl necklace and pale blue shoes and carried a nosegay of blue and white 'mums with white satin streamers.

Master Donald Hubel, eldest nephew of the bride, was his aunt's ringbearer and looked natty in his navy blazer and white trousers. He carried the ring on a white satin heart-shaped cushion.

Mr. Albert Newton, of Ajax, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Glenn Hubel, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. William Bailey, cousin of the bride, both of R.R. 3, Stirling, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the church hall, adjoining the church. The bride's mother, wearing a Deur blue nylon lace over taffeta dress, with navy accessories and corsage of pink sweetheart roses received the guests assisted by the bridegroom's mother wearing a navy crepe dress with pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The bride's table was daintily appointed with white damask, white wedding bells and pink and white streamers, centred by a three-tiered pink and white wedding cake, made by the bride's grandmother and topped by a miniature bride and groom beneath an arch of pink roses, rosebuds and forget-me-nots. Tall pink and white candelabras in silver candelabra and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial picture.

The waitresses were Mrs. Fred Brandt, the Misses Dorothy Johnston, Dawn Hubel, Iml Visser, Jean Grills and Joyce Harry.

For travelling to Toronto and points west the bride donned a green Ronera tweed sleeveless dress with round neckline and empire waistline with flared skirt, tan purse and shoes, white kid gloves, scarf and white satin hat, dark brown wool coat and corsage of red sweetheart roses.

Guests were present from Stirling, Carmel, Mount Pleasant, Wellman's, Corners, Tweed, Peterborough, Ajax, Belleville, Toronto and Codrington. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon will reside at 127 Wolfrey Ave., Toronto.

Previous to the wedding the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Bert Day-empore, Toronto; a china shower at the home of Mrs. Chas. Johnston and Dorothy; a presentation of a Royal clothes hamper and recipe box by her co-workers at the Northern Electric Co., Belleville; presentation of a cheque by the Northern Electric Club, (Continued on page six)

In Memoriam

ACKERS — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Clare Bernard Ackers, who was killed in a car accident January 18th, 1958.

We little knew when we woke that morn,
 The sorrow the day would bring,
 For the call was sudden, the shock severe,

To part with one we loved so clear.
 Sometimes it's hard to understand
 Why some things have to be,
 But in His wisdom God has planned
 Beyond our powers to see.
 God gave us strength to fight it
 And courage to bear the blow
 But what it cost to lose you dear
 No one will ever know.

—Loved and always remembered by his wife Betty and son Paul. 50-1p

ACKERS — In loving memory of our loving son, Clare, who was killed in a car accident January 18th, 1958.

We little knew when we awoke that morn

The sorrow that day would bring;
 The call was sudden, the shock severe
 To part with one we loved so dear.

It's lonesome here without you son
 We miss you more each day;
 Life just doesn't seem to be the same
 Since you were called away.

Our hearts still ache with sadness,
 As we shed many a bitter tear;
 God only knows how much we miss you

As this ends our first year.

—Sadly missed and ever remembered by Mom, Dad, brothers and sisters. 50-1

SCEA — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lydia B. Scea, who passed away seven years ago January 18th, 1952.

The depths of sorrow we cannot tell
 Of the loss of one I loved so well,
 And while she lies in peaceful sleep
 Her memory I shall always keep.
 The flowers I place upon her grave
 May wither and decay

But the love of her who sleeps beneath Shall never fade away.

—Ever remembered by husband, daughter, son, granddaughters and grandsons. 50-1p

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

I picked up a little article last night by Allen Marple, who was editor of Collier's Magazine back in the days of its fabulous success. In the article he was trying to figure out the requirements for successful writing.

Is it talent? Intelligence? Taste? He has pondered all those things, and he said he thought a writer required some of each, plus courage, patience, and "a sort of unsinkable self-righting ego."

Then he happened to spend an evening with a writer who had come up the hard way to success. What did this man have?

Marple came to the conclusion that, "You throw all those qualities in the pot, cook at a slow burn for some years, and what you've got, if you've got anything, is character. That's what it takes to be a successful writer — or successful carpenter, or successful steeple-jack — a bit of knack at the trade, learned or native, and a hell of a lot of Character."

When you think it through, he's right. Perhaps everyone needs a bit of luck, but I'd hate to bet that your luck isn't what you make it.

The older a man gets the more he notices the fact that the successful men and women of the world have character. The world needs them. In attaining their own success they have created good things for us all.

It took intelligence and character, for example, to invent, develop and merchandise television, the printing press, the diamond drill, the telephone, insulin, and a thousand and one other things which have improved our lives.

Therefore, if we are wise, we should be willing to reward men of character and genius, instead of sniping at them. We do not grow big by cutting others down, nor rich by making others poor. Discourage character and enterprise and you make the whole world poorer; encourage leaders and you help make the whole world wealthier.

Isn't it time we showed some concern for the welfare of the productive people, instead of lavishing all our care on the incompetent? I think so!

Horticultural Society Hints

This is the time of year we look forward to our seed catalogues coming through the mails, thence we plan our indoor gardening and planting for spring.

This is a good time to inspect our tubers and corms that we dug last fall. If you have gladiolus corms with the dried covering on them, peel off the papery coverings and discard any that are withered or rotted. Keep the varieties separated and marked, put in paper bags and dust the corms with five percent D.D.T. powder or you can buy a dust especially for this purpose. Then store in a cool dry place. If you have had them stored, look them over if you notice any fungus or mildew, clean it off and dust with fine powdered sulphur and D.D.T.

Dahlia tubers should not be allowed to dry out to the point where they wither, check them to be sure they're still plump and sprinkle lightly with water if they show signs of drying. Slightly damp sphagnum moss is an excellent material to store the tubers in. Dust with sulphur if you notice mildew on them and keep them in a cool corner of the basement where there is some dampness. A vegetable or root storage room with an earthen floor is the ideal place.

A novel centerpiece can be grown by cutting off 1 inch slices from tops of carrots and placing them in a shallow dish of water.

When rooting "cuttings" of geraniums or other house plants, use a brown glass container. The lack of light will prevent the growth of algae (green scum).

Children are a great deal more apt to follow your lead than the way you point.

CAROL ADELE CAMPION

Friends and relatives in the Marmora and Tweed districts were shocked Thursday to learn of the death of Miss Carol Adele Campion, 19, of Marmora, who died in Toronto General Hospital Thursday from leukemia. She had been ill only for the past three weeks.

Until taking ill she had worked as secretary in an insurance office at Tweed.

Daughter of Albert Campion and Winnifred McInroy, she was born in Marmora Township and was educated in Marmora Township public school and Marmora and Tweed high schools. Following graduation from high school last summer she took the position of secretary at Tweed.

She was a member of Marmora St. Andrew's United Church and of the church Young People's group and also was a regular attendant at the Free Methodist Sunday School at Beaver Creek.

Besides her parents she is survived by a sister Janice and a brother Joseph, both at home and her grandfather, Mr. Harry Campion.

The funeral was held from the Howden Funeral Home Sunday afternoon to St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, for service at 2.00 p.m., conducted by Rev. J. M. McLeod.

Interment in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

Big Mistake

An executive who is a great believer in efficiency hung up a sign in his office one day last week. It read: "Do It Now."

Within 24 hours, the cashier bolted with contents of the safe, his stenographer eloped with his eldest son, the office boy threw the ink bottle into the electric fan, and the whole office force took the afternoon off.

Pedestrians should not rely blindly on the protection of traffic lights at intersections, says the Ontario Safety League. Statistics show that half the pedestrians hit at intersections are hit at intersections equipped with traffic signals.

YOU GET MORE OUT OF LIFE WHEN YOU GET THE MOST OUT OF ELECTRICITY

Even though it's washday Mother has plenty of time to spend with the children, because electricity helps with the housework. The washing is done automatically... by electricity. While she's away the clothes will be washed and rinsed thoroughly, simply by setting the dial on the automatic electric washer. When she comes home, the washing needs only to be transferred to the automatic electric clothes dryer. While she's busy preparing dinner (on her automatic electric range), the washing will be dried sunshine-fresh, automatically, whatever the weather. Automatic electric laundry appliances are safe, clean, and modern. They free you from wash-day drudgery forever... yet they cost just a few cents a day to operate.

You get more out of life, when you get the most out of electricity.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

GRASS SILAGE PROVIDES WINTER VITAMIN NEEDS

The feeding of grass silage to cattle and sheep, during the winter months, is particularly helpful in ensuring an adequate intake of Vitamin A, according to the Animal Husbandry and Nutrition Departments of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Grass silage can be made from any green crops which ordinarily might be made into hay, although other green crops, such as oats, wheat, soy beans and peas, can be used.

It can be fed to all classes of live stock, but is especially desirable for dairy and beef cattle. A working plan is to provide 3 tons of silage for each mature cow in the herd. The requirements of young stock will be met by provision of about one-half this amount. This is on the basis of about 200 days of silage feeding per year.

For growing stock and breeding cows, the liberal use of green silage, fed at the rate of about 3 pounds of silage per 100 pounds of live weight, will prove satisfactory for winter feeding. Some dry roughage such as hay or straw should always be supplied when animals are fed heavily on silage.

Grass silage, particularly if the mixture contains some legumes, is higher in protein than corn silage. Good quality grass silage is rich in carotene, the yellow pigment from which Vitamin A is formed in the body, but has very little Vitamin D compared to field-cured hay.

Since the crop for silage is usually cut at a reasonably early stage of maturity, and is not exposed to the weather, there is usually less variation in the composition of grass silage, than there is in hay, aside from the variations due to the mixture.

TOP QUALITY MILK FOR TOP PROFIT

Losses from poor quality milk rejected at the dairy plant may mean the difference between a profit and a loss to the dairy farmer, says Professor F. W. Hamilton, Department of Dairy Science, Ontario Agricultural College.

The key to quality control lies in a number of factors. Since milk is a human food, the same degree of cleanliness should be exercised in the production and handling of it as we expect of the housewife when preparing meals. In the production of a high quality milk the human factor is the most important.

A healthy herd is a more profitable herd; disease reduces production and increases the rate of replacements, as well as endangering the health of the herd-owner's family and consumers of milk. The wise dairyman will keep in touch with the dairy cattle disease control programs in operation throughout the province.

Stables need not be elaborate or expensive, but should have adequate lighting, drainage and ventilation. Manure should be removed from the yards daily; since open manure piles provide a breeding place for flies. Clipping the fine hair from the udder, flanks and belly of the cow will help to keep her clean and comfortable.

Remember that milk should be cooled to below 50 deg. F. as soon as possible, because at higher temperatures bacteria multiply rapidly. Quality is the key to the progress and development of the dairy industry.

Big fires always start little, points out the Ontario Safety League.

The modern theory seems to be that a dollar saved is just a good time lost.

NOW IS THE TIME TO TAKE INVENTORY

Another year's operations has drawn to a close, now is the time for farmers to look back over what was accomplished, and to summarize and analyze the farming business of the year before doing any planning for the coming year.

In order to do this, some records of the business must be available, states Prof. H. W. Caldwell, Department of Agricultural Economics, Ontario Agricultural College. Keeping records requires that some time be spent on them. Many expenses are incurred when farmers are very busy, and it is difficult to remember accurately at the end of a long day the details of all small transactions and to record them; it is easier to put off doing it until tomorrow or some future time. For these reasons it seems advisable for most farmers to keep minimum records to suit their needs.

The minimum records for any farm business are a cash account of receipts and expenses of the farm (omitting household and personal expenses) and an inventory. Production records are helpful, and records of each enterprise are very desirable on large farms, but these require an experienced bookkeeper. It is better to start with the minimum records suggested and to carry them through the year than to attempt to keep too many and become discouraged.

Most farmers or their wives keep some kind of cash account, but the inventory is not so often kept. A man may appear to have made a good income from his business by looking only at his receipts and expenses, but, if some of his receipts have lowered his capital, he may be in a worse position than at the beginning of the year.

An inventory of the farm business is an account of everything a man owns on the farm, at a given time, with values attached. The time to take an inventory is at the close of the year. Then the same one will do for the beginning inventory of the following year.

Now is the time to take stock. List and describe what is owned in a permanent book, preferably in some grouping such as "land and buildings," "livestock," "machinery," and "foods and supplies." Place reasonable values on the items based on "normal" values, or market prices. By comparing the inventory at the beginning of one year with the inventory at the end of the same year, adding any decrease to expenses or any increase to receipts, a farmer can get a true picture of the result of his operations. Knowing this, he is in a better position to plan for the new year ahead. Start keeping a farm inventory in 1959. A farm account book is available from the County Agricultural Representative.

A Letter To The Editor

Fellow Citizens

of Stirling:

They are calling for tenders for pump-houses for sewage. The chambers in pump-houses are dead-ends when pumps are not working. Pumps do get more sewage than they can handle. Parts go out of order and the pumps are no use when there is a power failure. Result — creek flooded with sewage.

No need for pumps. What is the reason for not laying trunk sewer the same direction as the creek? The sewage would then go by its own accord to a lagoon or disposal plant.

The true story of one small borrower...and 'MY BANK'

A few weeks ago, Julian Janvrin, an Englishman by birth now living in Toronto, came upon this headline in his daily newspaper: "Bank of Montreal Deposits Top the Three Billion Mark". A depositor at the B of M since shortly after his arrival in Canada five years ago, Mr. Janvrin was prompted by the headline to write a letter to Gordon R. Ball, president of the B of M, outlining his experiences as both a depositor and borrower at Canada's first bank. We thought Mr. Janvrin's story of his struggle against adversity was worth repeating, and with his permission, have made it the basis of this advertisement.

The Success Story of Julian Janvrin...

Julian Janvrin is the last person in the world to say that this is a success story. We think it is. But you can judge for yourself.

FIVE YEARS AGO, shortly after his arrival in Canada with his wife and three children, Mr. Janvrin had occasion to cash a cheque at his local B of M branch in Toronto. "Although I had told the manager that I was just an immigrant," he recalls, "he invited me to open an account, and it was gratifying to me to feel that my confidence in the future of Canada was reciprocated by the Bank of Montreal. Two or three weeks later I opened an account at that branch."

Like most newcomers to Canada, Mr. Janvrin had only enough capital when he arrived to get himself settled, and eventually he found himself short in meeting the final payment on his car, which was essential in his new job as a salesman. So he talked over his problem with his B of M manager, who considered him a good enough risk to advance him the money he needed.

But let Mr. Janvrin continue the story in his own words: "I mention this because bankers are sometimes charged with being little more than moneylenders and usurers, but in this instance, I knew that the Bank of Montreal was acting as it were on behalf of the people of Canada in helping me to get established in much the same way as in pioneer days the Bank of Montreal must have advanced funds to immigrants to purchase seed, a few implements and maybe a team of horses."

An average Canadian family, Mr. & Mrs. Janvrin and the two younger children relax at TV in their comfortable Toronto apartment.

"Soon afterwards I gave up selling, disposed of the car and took a regular job by night, while my wife by day quite literally took the holes out of doughnuts. One of us was able always to be with the children, two of whom were not then of school age.

"Fifteen months later we decided to obtain cheaper rental accommodation outside Toronto. A car, however, would then be essential. Again the bank went along with us. "Two years ago the landlord of the house we were renting decided to sell the house. Again the Bank of Montreal helped us and advanced the down payment that prevented our home being sold over our heads."

"This summer my son, having passed through six grades in three years at public school, sat for the competitive entrance examination to a school for which I would have to pay an annual fee... For this, too, I am in large measure indebted to the Bank of Montreal, for in June my financial circumstances were such that had I not been confident of my banker's support, I might not have ever considered sending him to this school.

"We have now again moved into Toronto to be nearer the school, but our circumstances have improved, inasmuch as our teenage daughter has now left high school of her own wish and is now working; and as the two younger children are now at school, my wife in the New Year will be in a position to take an office job.

"This is not a success story, for the struggle, believe me, is still on. But our bank account is now in better shape than it has been for the past five years and will now perhaps bear scrutiny.

"I am now, therefore, at last in a position to write to thank My Bank and in particular my bank manager, for the confidence it placed in us and for the help, encouragement and courtesy it has always extended to us.

"Get to know your banker," says Mr. Janvrin. "Your best collateral is his confidence." A spare-time free-lance writer, he spends many evenings at his typewriter while the children study.

"To me it is no surprise that the deposits of the Bank of Montreal should have topped the 3-billion mark, for although from the short term point of view I myself am not yet in a position to make large deposits, it may well be from the long term point of view, that my son, as a representative of the coming generation, may be in a position to do as other sons of Canada are now doing."

The B of M is, of course, proud to have played its part in Julian Janvrin's success story, and is grateful to him for allowing us to publish it to indicate some of the many ways in which Canada's first bank works with Canadians—new and old alike—in every walk of life from coast to coast.

Mr. Janvrin's story provides a sincere and unsolicited testimonial to the fact that "When you ask for a loan at the Bank of Montreal, you do not ask a favour."

When money is a problem with you, why not see your B of M manager? If your proposition is sound and reasonable there's money for you at the B of M... at the lowest rates and on the fairest terms.

Nine-year-old Robert Janvrin, seen with his younger sister, Patricia, is a student at one of Canada's top preparatory schools, thanks to a timely B of M Personal Loan.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

Not much more than 150 years ago, copies of the Sacred Word were so costly as to be quite beyond the reach of the poor, and even the great Revival of Religion had not quite awakened men to a sense of responsibility of giving the word of life to nations beyond the pale of Christendom. Out of the spiritual quickening which gave birth to the great missionary movements of the early 19th century came the British and Foreign Bible Society. It was a time when men's hearts failed them for fear, when trade was poor, the country on the brink of ruin, in fact the most inauspicious of all times to begin a new movement. How significant then, that the century turned out to be the century of unparalleled progress.

Since its beginning the Bible Society has maintained its objective of "A Bible for every man, in his own tongue, at a price he can afford to pay," and wherever the objective has been met, there has followed physical, moral, and spiritual uplift among the nations.

Minor Hockey Week January 24th to February 1st

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has designated the week of January 24th to February 1st, as "Minor Hockey Week in Canada." Right across Canada, from Atlantic to Pacific, hockey men will pay tribute to the work being done for minor hockey. They will take time to pay tribute to the men who make possible hockey for boys — the men who are the volunteer workers — the manager, coaches, local league secretaries, and yes, even the volunteer referees. Without these men there would be no minor hockey. And if no minor hockey, NO HOCKEY! In Ontario, the observance is under the direction of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association.

The O.M.H.A., in turn, is co-operating with other affiliates to make Minor Hockey Week a successful venture. O.M.H.A. Executive members are all busy lining up special programmes in their respective districts. Special nights will be held in practically every city, town and village with teams entered in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, and that's practically every City, Town and Village in Ontario. Teams will be holding their own "Minor Hockey Nights" during the week, featuring special programmes, important minor hockey games, lucky draws and door prizes. O.M.H.A. President Jack Oakes and every member of his executive will be out to these special games every night during Minor Hockey Week.

There will be press interviews, special publicity, radio and television appearances for every phase of minor hockey — players, coaches, managers, secretaries, referees and individual members of the O.M.H.A. Executive — thus covering every field of endeavour connected with the training of better Canadian citizens through participation in Minor Hockey.

All in all, "Minor Hockey Week in Canada" and especially in Ontario, looks like a big week for the youngsters and the men who work for them. And a busy week for the officials.

Keep Canada First . . . Support Minor Hockey.

FORD 1959

SO BEAUTIFULLY RIGHT
IN EVERY WAY

This is the car that makes such beautiful sense for 1959 — because it's designed to meet every kind of driving need today. And that is exactly what it does. Beautifully.

This new Ford has a clean, crisp look — trim and tough — fast on its feet. And it's a big car. But there isn't an ounce of waste fat on it. You don't need a can opener to pry it out of your garage. And it'll fit very neatly between two parking meters. But it's plenty big inside. There's room enough for the whole family to travel clean across Canada with all the ease and comfort that only a big car is able to give you. All the facts point to Ford in '59 ... and so does the fun!

Clements -- Poste Nuptials

On Monday, December 29th at 2.00 p.m. a beautiful seasonal red and white double ring wedding took place at St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill Anglican Church, Belleville, when Carrol Joan Poste, of Stirling, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Poste, of Stirling, became the bride of Ralph Francis Clements, of R.R. 1, Harold, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clements, of R.R. 1, Harold. The Reverend L. Arthur Page, rector of the church, officiated before a beautiful red and white background of carnations and chrysanthemums. White satin bows designated the guest pews and white candles adorned the altar.

Mrs. Grace Calvert, church organist, rendered the wedding music and accompanied the choir of nine boys, under the direction of Alf Evans, as they sang the 23rd Psalm during the processional to the altar for communion, and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Ray Poste, the bride was charming in her floor-length bridal gown of antique ivory brocade, fashioned with tightly fitted bodice with wide, portrait neckline, and molded lily-point sleeves. The bouffant skirt was accented by a front panel falling from the bodice front bow, and at the back by a bustle effect. She wore a coronet studded with seed pearls and sequins, finger-tip veil of silk ivory tulle illusion, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white hyacinth florets tied with long, white satin ribbon knotted with rosebuds. Pearl earrings and white pumps completed her ensemble.

She was attended by Mrs. Charles Fenton, of Belleville, as matron of honor; by the Misses Bonnie Gowsell, cousin of the bride, and Marilyn Brickman, both of Belleville, as senior bridesmaids, and by Miss Jane Clements, Harold R.R. 1, sister of the bridegroom, as junior bridesmaid. They wore matching street-length gowns of poinsettia red velvet with full skirts gathered to tight-fitting bodices in long torso effect, having Sabrina necklines and short sleeves. They wore matching headresses of red velvet leaves accented by a large velvet poinsettia at the right; matching mittens and white and silver pumps, and carried white muffs trimmed with holly.

Little Miss Ruth Poste, of Trenton, cousin of the bride, as flower girl was demure and sweet in her poinsettia red frock of velvet with full gathered skirt, puff sleeves and Peter Pan collar, edged with white lace. Her head-dress was one large, red poinsettia. She wore white slippers and gloves and carried a Colonial basket of red Sweetheart roses and white pom-pom mums.

Mr. David Hord, Marmora, attended the bridegroom, while the bride's brothers, Richard Poste, of the RCAM Station, Clinton, Ontario, and Garry Poste, of Stirling, were ushers.

The reception was held in the parish hall which was decorated with red and white streamers and evergreens for the occasion. The guest tables were appointed with white linen and tiny white candles in white holders marked the guests' places.

The bride's table, with its white damask, was centred by an all-white, pillared, three-tier wedding cake adorned with three white wedding bells tied with white ribbon, each bell centred by a tiny pink rose and lily-of-the-valley sprays. The base was misted by white tulle and sprays of holly. Pale green candles in silver holders completed the nuptial appointment.

The bride's mother, wearing a rose-wood-colored lace sheath, with lace overskirt and satin trim, long matching gloves, tiny hat with feathered trim, and a corsage of white feathered carnations, received the guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, gowned in pale blue in sheath style, with satin fishtail back, matching picture hat, and gloves and corsage of pink feathered carnations.

Mr. Ernest Luck, of Deseronto, uncle and godfather of the bride, was toastmaster. The toast to the bride was proposed by the rector, the Rev. L. Arthur Page, to which the bridegroom responded. The bride's father spoke briefly.

Those who served were former schoolmates of the bride, the Misses Betty Rose, of Toronto; Barbara McElraith, Carol Pringle, Linda Wagg and Pauline Lally, of Belleville, and Beverley Wallace, of Stirling.

For the wedding trip to Watertown, Tupper Lake, Saranac Lake, Lake Placid, White Face Mountain and

Montreal, the bride travelled in a white dachon wool and lace sheath dress with mink collar, dark grey Persian lamb jacket, red accessories and corsage of red Sweetheart roses and white feathered carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Clements will reside on the bridegroom's farm at Harold, Ont.

Guests attended from Clinton, Toronto, Portland, Stirling, Deseronto, Harold, Trenton and Belleville. The bride's gift to her bridegroom, luggage; to her matron of honor and senior bridesmaids, crystal; to the junior bridesmaid and flower girl, jewellery. The bridegroom's gift to his bride, hurricane boudoir lamps; to his groomsmen and ushers, tie bars and matching cuff links.

The bride was entertained previous to her marriage, by a crystal shower at the home of Mrs. Charles Fenton, Belleville; by the staff of the Prince of Wales school, Belleville; at a community shower and presentation of an occasional chair and lamp table at Salem Hall; at a troussau tea given by the bride's mother, Mrs. R. Poste, Stirling; at a rehearsal party at the home of Mrs. Everett Gowsell, Belleville, with Mrs. Tom Clements as co-hostess; at a home-coming reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Clements, of Harold, and at a charivari by the neighbours of the bride and bridegroom.

(contributed)

It was with deep regret that residents of Ivanhoe and surrounding district learned of the sudden death of Michael Kerby, which occurred on January 11th, 1959.

Michael Kerby, who resided in the Ivanhoe community all his lifetime, was a man who walked uprightly before his fellow men, he did not slander with his tongue, nor would he take up an ill report against his neighbour. He was always ready to help those in need.

In 1928 he was called upon to bear great sorrow. His wife, the former Minnie Stewart, died leaving seven young children. By hard work, patience and fortitude, he brought up his family to be useful citizens.

On May 12th, 1943, he lost a well loved son, Ft. Lt. Stewart Kerby, on the eve of a well earned leave in Canada. Ft. Lt. Kerby had come safely through the African Campaign and was the proud possession of "The Silver Boot." It was while serving as an instructor in night flying in England that he lost his life.

Mr. Kerby had the satisfaction of seeing his family established in homes of their own. His eleven grandchildren were his pride and joy. The youngest grandchild son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kerby, bears his name.

Michael derived much pleasure from frequent visits to his family and friends. He was keenly interested in sports and attended a hockey game on Friday evening prior to his death.

He was held in respect and warm affection by his many friends and will be missed from his place in his home, in his church and in the community.

Our hearts go out in deepest sympathy to his sorrowing family.

Horticultural Society Hints

Many of us received potted plants at Christmas time. By now they are beginning to fade and we are wondering how to care for them so we can grow them for another year. The potted chrysanthemums are kept watered until flowers fade, then cut the stems back to 4 or 5 inches, store in a cool place, sparingly watered till warm weather, remove from pot and plant with other perennials.

Cyclamen — keep in a cool (60 degrees) well lighted place (east window). Water it from the bottom, keep continuously damp. Feed once every two weeks with liquid plant food. When leaves are nearly gone, gradually dry the plant off. When the weather is warm, place pot outdoors in a cool shaded place (still kept nearly dry) until new leaves begin to appear. Then transfer root ball to next larger size pot, add plant food and begin to water.

Azalea — Never let it dry out. Keep it cool, about 60 degrees and put in a moderately sunny place — east window is good. Every two weeks water with acidified water made by adding 1 teaspoon vinegar to 1 quart of water. Feed balanced plant food once a month. When weather warms up, set outside in a cool shady spot until fall.

To provide high humidity for plants a pebble-filled tray containing water under the pot will help.

To any of your vines or plants you are growing in water, add a piece of wood charcoal to the container. This will keep the water sweet and make it unnecessary to change this liquid except to make up for evaporation.

Forget to brag about your ancestors and concentrate on being an ancestor to brag about.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

It was Pentecost which first impressed the disciples of Jesus with the truth of his greatest lesson, that their message was for all races of men, and to be translated into all languages. Their own experience now taught them that Christianity can speak in all tongues. For the last 155 years the Bible Society has been at testing that if men have any human language at all, it is possible to tell them about God's love for them in that tongue. Every year the translators break into about 20 new language groups, and another 20 gates are opened to the teaching and leadership of the missionary.

The youngster with the broom is making a clean path for the curling stone. Maybe he doesn't realize it yet, but his father is guiding him through life on a path as direct and as smooth. Life insurance is a way to meet the future and a way to save. By insuring his son now, this father is encouraging thrift, building an attitude of mind.

Many people who plan their life insurance programme through The Mutual Life of Canada, take out policies at low cost on the lives of their children: policies the children take over when they start earning. It's a good idea. Worth discussing with your Mutual Life of Canada representative — soon.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hillis)

WHAT IS INFLATION?

A fellow I've always thought bright asked me a surprising question the other day.

"Say," he said, "I see everybody's talking about inflation. Just what the heck is it. And what can I do about it?"

"Maybe you, too haven't bothered to find out what inflation is, what causes it, and what you can do about it? Some people are so busy at their own affairs they can't take time to study such things. So here's what I told my friend.

"If your wife makes soup," I said, "and it tastes good, would you ask her to put another gallon of water in the pot so there'd be more of it?"

"Heck, no," he said. "That'd spoil it."

"Well, then, you understand inflation. If she puts in more water without adding more meat and vegetables, she's inflated your soup. She made more soup, but she deflated every bowl of it. Put money in the place of water, and goods and services in place of the meat and vegetables, and you've got a fairly good analogy."

He grinned. "As an old soup-eater, I've gotcha! But nobody around our place would try to get away with watering the soup — or the whiskey, either. Who's guilty?"

"You mentioned whiskey," I said. "Who waters it?"

"Gotcha again," he said, "the government, of course. Might have known you'd blame it on the government. You blame everything on the government."

"Not entirely," I said. "I blame the people who vote for political candidates because they promise to spend money all over the place, money that doesn't produce anything or help get anything produced. That kind of money is like water on the same meat and vegetables. Governments are to blame to a great extent for not having the courage to hold the line, while they ask others to hold it."

He grinned. "What about me? How can I fight this thief that's eating into the value of my bankroll?"

"You," I said, "can quit loafing. Do a full day's work for a day's pay. Make sure any product that comes from your hand is made as well and as quickly as you can make it. Produce more per hour before you ask for higher hourly pay."

"Ummmm," he said. "Does that go for you, too?"

"It goes for me, too. For everybody in Canada. It's the unit cost of things that kills us. What's the use of producing plenty if it costs so much per piece that we can't sell it? Let's get costs down and productivity up — then see how much you can buy with your check."

"I go along with you, pal," he said. "I hope you do too!"

Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary

For their first meeting in the new year the Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary met in St. James' Parish Hall, Kingston, on January 12th. The attendance was most gratifying. Miss Winnifred Burns, Diocesan President, was in the chair. The opening service of Bible reading and prayers was led by the Right Reverend K. C. Evans, Bishop of the Diocese.

Miss Burns called on Archdeacon Hunt, rector of St. James' and offered him the congratulations of the meeting on his new honour and promotion. He welcomed the W.A. to his parish and urged them to do all in their power to strengthen the coming Mission to Kingston. He recalled the episode where Christ could do no mighty work among His folk because of their unbelief and wondered whether Christ would meet obstacles in unbelief and carelessness at this mission.

The President expressed regret at the cancellation of the St. Andrew's Day Devotional due to severe weather conditions and hoped that it may yet prove to be only a postponement.

Mrs. T. H. Parker, Diocesan Treasurer, reported a successful 1958, with pledges being met and even over-subscribed. At this meeting money was voted in answer to an appeal from Bishop Wilkinson, of Amritsar for help to rebuild three clergy homes that had been washed away by floods.

Mrs. E. Grant, Dorcas Sect. Treasurer, reported having received thankful acknowledgements of a communion set and two complete sets of linens, money for rectory equipment, skates and bales to Indian schools and bales of used clothing where it was needed. Mrs. G. H. Esford, Educational Secretary-Treasurer, reported success in her department. Over 4,700 calendars have been sold and study books and kits have been in demand.

Two new life memberships have been given to Mrs. D. C. Hunt, of St. James' Kingston, and Mrs. A. Bongard, of Christ Church, Belleville. There has been a slight falling off in membership among the youth departments although new branches of the J.A. have been formed at Christ Church, Tamworth, and on the Tyendinaga Reserve.

Bishop Evans addressed the meeting at some length on the state of the Diocese. He gave an interesting account of the early history of the northern part of the Diocese and followed up to the present time with accounts of failures and successes. The challenge is great and it can be met only with stewardship of a mature nature. This means conscientious thinking and giving by every member.

A revival of an evangelical spirit in the parishes will be part of the Christian witness. The Bishop's statement was one of progress and set-backs, but one of hope.

The St. James' branches were hostesses at the close of the meeting and invited all to have tea.

Why Do People Hate The Police

Is the title Maclean's magazine writer-sociologist Sidney Katz has put on a national survey he has made of what he calls the "cold war between police and citizens."

It will almost certainly be read by every police chief in the country and certainly was a subject of much discussion at the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police, held recently in Saint John, N.B.

One reason given for the attitude of public antagonism is that people don't understand and appreciate how difficult and complex the duties of the policeman have become.

A generation ago he was the friendly familiar uniformed constable daily walking his beat; now he's an impersonal stranger in a cruiser or on a motorcycle, or a specialist in radar, fingerprints, traffic and parking, or electronic communications.

Another reason is that he's now involved with a much larger segment of the population. At one time, he was concerned almost exclusively with catching criminals; he was regarded as the protector of the individual against the lawbreaker. In this he had strong support and respect from the public.

Now, with a myriad of statutes and by-laws to enforce, and with his scope enlarged to include practically every member of the community, he's taking on the connotation of "big brother is watching you."

Traffic infractions, parking tickets, liquor regulations, messy garbage, unshoveled snow, unscheduled lawn sprinkling and, in one city, delinquent tax collecting all come within his purview now.

People don't focus their irritation on the more or less inanimate legislative bodies that enact these laws and attach penalties to them, they just clench their teeth and wonder (sometimes out loud) "why them cops aren't out chasing bank robbers instead of leaning on parking meters waiting for them to expire so they can put a ticket on a car."

Basis of the trouble seems to be that people nowadays have no idea of the complicated structure and function of a modern police force.

That misunderstanding, based on ignorance more than anything else, could be overcome or greatly dispelled if more departments followed the lead of a few outstanding ones with an intelligent and sustained program of public relations.

It's only human nature that a man is more interested in getting his bite than in giving his bit.

Tracing Family Ancestors Intriguing And Valuable

One of the several benefits accruing to a membership in the United Empire Loyalists' Association of Canada appears when an applicant commences the search for family descendants, usually in the records of an old family Bible (if still available), records in the family burying ground, and talks with elder members of the family. Surprise will follow surprise as names of families, connected by marriage but hitherto unknown as relatives, pop up as it were, here and there.

In the old Midland district of Upper Canada, now more familiarly known as the Bay of Quinte area, settled shortly after the Treaty of Separation in 1783, could be found records of ancestors of a very large number of Ontario citizens. The histories of settlement by Dr. William Canniff, by Canniff Haight, and others, clearly indicate how many of us could, by the use of a little effort and spare time, trace our ancestry to more than one of those pioneer Loyalist families.

Why is it desirable to go to this trouble? We owe it to our coming generations to leave them a record of their ancestors, of which they may ever be proud. During the early decades of settlement in Upper Canada, the only provision for maintenance and preservation of vital statistics records was through the voluntary efforts of some of the early missionaries. Most of the old family Bibles have disappeared.

Since the solemn consecration ceremony in June 1956 by Premier Leslie Frost of the restored 172-year-old United Empire Loyalist burying ground at Adolphustown there has been a greatly accelerated interest shown in search for genealogical and historical records of those early pioneers to whom largely belongs the credit for the building of our fair Dominion of Canada.

In July 1956 the Bay of Quinte Branch of the U.E.L. Association of Canada was inaugurated with headquarters in Adolphustown. From a healthy nucleus of Loyalist descendants resident in the old Midland district (Kingston to Cobourg) the Branch now has a membership residing in many parts of Canada and even in some parts of the U.S.A., the ancestors of all having been co-founders of what is now Ontario.

In 1789 our Monarch, King George III established the first purely Canadian honorary title, it being a Mark of Honour for those Loyalists, and their descendants, taking the form of a badge with U.E. (Unity of Empire) thereon and providing that all so honored should use those initials after his or her name.

And now to digress a moment. The publication, after three years painstaking research, and recent distribution of the genealogical history of the Ketcheson family brought to its Editor the following comment: "Thank you for the Ketcheson Family book. For those who like to dig deeply into the treasures of our family history, this book will be very rewarding. It is a Gift to the Clan for all time!" More than five years ago that lady spent many wearisome months digging into the history of her family — the memorable Christopher Robinson family of United Empire Loyalists, into which family a 15-year-old fourth generation Ketcheson family girl married and raised a family of thirteen children. She is a proud descendant of two Loyalist ancestors.

The Bay of Quinte U.E.L. will gladly help you establish your family tree. The Branch meets every other month, January to November and will welcome your application for membership and help you to attain it.

Tour Will Be Most Informal Says Diefenbaker

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will meet the people with a minimum of formality during their summer Canadian visit that will give a prominent place on the programme to outlying areas.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker informed the Commons Friday that the hope in planning the six-week visit beginning June 18th is to give the royal couple a look at the newer industries, some of the mining areas and parts of the country just coming into prominence in national development.

The itinerary of the tour will be announced next week, he said.

PLANNING FOR INSTALLATION OF BULK MILK COOLER CALLS FOR ATTENTION TO MANY DETAILS

Anyone contemplating the installation of a bulk milk cooler has to do a good deal of careful planning in order to get the best service from such equipment. This advice was offered recently at a discussion period on handling farm materials at the Annual Conference of the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association by O. R. Irvine of the Kemptville Agricultural School.

The speaker stated that the Ontario Department of Agriculture regulations applying to the installation of such tanks should be consulted and carefully complied with. These require that such tanks be installed in a milk house and that such a building have a floor area of at least 168 square feet with the tank not closer than 2 feet from any wall of this building. A supply of clean water under pressure is required as well as a two compartment waste sink and a means of heating water.

Some of the construction errors which the speaker warned against included doors which were too narrow, inadequate wiring, insufficient lighting and not enough floor drains.

As a means of eliminating the need for carrying milk from stable to milk house, a number of systems of mechanical transfer of milk were described by the speaker. In addition to glass and stainless steel pipe line systems were now on the market which were less costly than the rigid pipe line systems. The special care required to keep such systems in a good sanitary condition was stressed by the speaker who expressed the view that because of its labor-saving features such equipment would likely prove popular.

ONION VARIETIES FOR ORGANIC SOILS

Rapid changes are taking place in onion varieties and the grower would do well to keep in mind such names as Autumn Spice, Improved Autumn Spice, Surprise, Elite and Early Harvest in ordering his next seed supply of yellow skin onions.

Production of hybrid onion seed is a difficult task and consequently the price is higher than that of open pollinated varieties. But this small difference in price is insignificant beside the increased yield. For instance, at the Horticultural Organic Soil Substation at Ste. Clothilde de Chateauguay, Quebec, Elite yielded an average of 930 bags of marketable onions per acre against 600 for Early Yellow Globe.

Following the work of Dr. H. A. Jones on male sterility in onions, many new hybrid varieties were released for testing by the United States Department of Agriculture and seed firms in North America.

Autumn Spice soon replaced Early Yellow Globe and Brigham Yellow Globe on much soils in Eastern Canada, because of its earliness and its fine qualities. This new hybrid has a deep bulb, is attractive, quite firm and of a moderately small size, adapting itself very nicely to polyethylene packaging.

Results of trials at the Ste. Clothilde Substation in the last two years have revealed that Elite and Surprise were much heavier yielders than Autumn Spice although they are slightly later. These two hybrids are attractive, hard and keep very well.

Improved Autumn Spice was liked very much in different trials for its yield, appearance, size and keeping qualities.

Early Harvest is a short day variety and not too well adapted for our conditions. This variety is earlier than Autumn Spice and may have its place as a late summer and early fall variety but will not keep too well in storage.

Seed of some of these new hybrid varieties will not be available for general release in 1959, but only when a sufficient supply of seed has been built up.

CROP INSURANCE LEGISLATION

"The crop insurance legislation and the extension of farm credit to be dealt with by Parliament in the coming year as suggested by the Speech from the Throne is wonderful news," said Gordon Greer, of Ottawa, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. These are problems which the Ontario and Canadian Federations of Agriculture have been trying to get action on for years."

According to the Speech from the Throne, the crop insurance program will likely depend on the co-operation received from various provinces. "This insurance will benefit farmers who have specialized, such as the Western Canada grain producers and the tobacco, fruit and vegetable, wheat, corn, soybean and other cash crop producers of Ontario, if it is put into effect," continued Mr. Greer. "These farmers run a great risk from hail and other damage to their crops, and insurance would give them a big lift."

Many farmers now insure their crops on their own, but at considerable cost. A government program of assistance on insurance of this sort would reduce the farmer's costs and provide him with some deserved protection, continued Mr. Greer.

The Speech indicated that Parliament will be asked to review and revise farm credit legislation to make credit more effective for developing a sound agriculture. In commenting on this point, Mr. Greer said that Federations have been seeking sources of loans for co-operatives and marketing boards for some time. "This might be the answer to the farmer's current problem of keeping vertical integration under farmer control. What is needed is something like the Industrial Development Bank, perhaps an Agricultural Development Bank if you want to call it that. Our co-ops and boards need loans at reasonable interest rates to work on behalf of agriculture. They are now being hindered by lack of funds to expand and advance. We in the Federation hope this credit extension move by the government means that farm organizations and the individual farmer will have a new source of credit."

EDEMA DISEASE OF SWINE

This condition is so termed because of the well defined post mortem findings seen in the majority of the pigs which die. Edema disease of swine is caused by a germ that is closely related to the white scour germ which affects younger pigs. It is present in the digestive tract of most pigs and anything that upsets the normal digestive processes in the pig may touch off an attack of gut edema. Most commonly the disease is associated with changes of feed, or lack of water and feed so that the pigs become excessively thirsty or hungry. These conditions may create the necessary digestive upset and lower the animal's resistance to the infectious agent. According to the Ontario Veterinary College the disease usually occurs between eight and fourteen weeks of age and is most common just after weaning.

The symptoms shown occur over a period of a few hours. The pigs lose appetite and develop a staggering gait. The eyelids become swollen and the swelling may extend over the forehead. There may be a peculiar squeal when the pig is disturbed. Eventually the pig is unable to stand, paralysis becomes generalized and the pig dies.

Once symptoms are shown, death occurs so quickly that there may be no time for treatment. However, because the disease is associated with a digestive upset and infection, it is wise to clean out the feed troughs and to slop feed limited amounts of chop for several days. Recommended treatment consists of flushing the pigs out either with an oily laxative or epsom salts in the slop feed. In addition a veterinarian should be consulted with a view to treating the rest of the litter against infection. Ontario Veterinary College officials point out that all changes of feed should be made gradually and measures should be taken to prevent newly weaned pigs from overeating.

SIMPLE RULES FOR FARMERS

A formula for cutting farm costs that is so simple it may have escaped the attention of some producers is given by G. A. MacEachern of the Prince George, B.C., Experimental Farm.

Labour and machinery form half of crop production costs, he says, recommending that you:

Plan and budget your labour requirements; keep labour relations good with good working conditions and help out on the unpleasant chores.

Plan and budget machinery requirements to fit your farming operation, and get the most out of your equipment without rushing the job.

A FARM SHOP HAS MANY USES

Is construction of a farm shop worthwhile?

Definitely, says Prof. J. K. Scott, Department of Engineering Science, Ontario Agricultural College. A farm shop has many uses, but possibly its most important function is that it permits the farmer to organize all of his repair resources in one place — work bench, vise, tools, and spare parts. And a farm shop that is heated will enable any farmer to make good use of the cold winter months by carrying out a checkover of all his equipment, so that it is ready to do its proper job as soon as the growing season begins in the spring.

In addition to checking over equipment, a farmer with a heated shop can make many useful articles that cannot be purchased but which can be put together from scrap material during spare time. Also, farm equipment can be modified to suit individual requirements — an extra step, an additional bracket, and a strengthened part can be made to make equipment designed for the average person more suitable to individual needs.

Quite often a farmer can construct a repair shop in one end of the implement shed by insulating the walls, hanging a close-fitting door, and pouring a concrete floor. Such a floor will safely support a jack when raising heavy implements in the course of repair work. And properly treated, concrete will not soak up spilled oil or gasoline, with their resulting fire hazard. The size of the shop will depend of course on the extent of the work to be done and the farmer's supply of tools, but a general rule to follow is to have the shop big enough to permit working space around practically any farm machines, with the possible exception of a combine.

Like other do-it-yourself enthusiasts many farmers buy more tools than they need for the jobs they intend to do. But a good electric grinder, for sharpening tools, and a portable half-inch electric drill, for boring holes in steel, will be of real value in machine maintenance.

Generally speaking, a farmer does not require any special skill to carry out repair programmes in his farm shop. Many farmers now carry out such programmes on machines in the field; bringing the work inside, under comfortable conditions, during the winter months when outdoor work is not as demanding as during the growing season, will enable a farmer to be mechanically prepared for the coming season's operations.

BLOAT INSTRUMENT

An apparatus to measure bloat pressure in cattle has been designed and constructed at Ottawa and is now in use at Summerland Experimental Farm. This instrument will be of valuable assistance in the study of bloat-inducing effects of various forages and management practices.

Combining business and pleasure often spoils the pleasure.

Canada Cheese Grade Improved

Efforts in the cheese industry to produce the purest possible product are paying off.

During the first ten months of 1958, about 98 per cent of all cheese graded fulfilled the requirements of Canada First Grade from the standpoint of extraneous matter, according to the Canada Department of Agriculture.

This achievement follows on the heels of a 1957 amendment to the Canada Dairy Products Act, under which extraneous matter analysis of cheese became a factor in determining grade.

First To Analyze

Canada was the first country to undertake this analytical work.

A sample of cheese is taken from each vat graded and forwarded to a central laboratory at Ottawa where analysis of the samples is carried out.

Samples are referred to as having Disc 1, Disc 2, 3 or 4. The first two discs qualify the cheese for inclusion in Canada First Grade, Disc 3 Canada Second Grade, and Disc 4 Canada Third Grade, or below — depending on the nature of the sediment.

Tests were started on an educational basis as the upshot of a wartime incident in which two carloads of cheese were turned back from their United States destination.

At first, results of the analysis were relayed to the milk producer and cheese manufacturer for their information only. In 1954, though, the Federal Government ruled that every vat must be tested for extraneous matter and that a premium would not be paid unless they were Discs 1 or 2.

(Premiums have been paid on top quality Canadian cheese since 1939.)

The latest amendment establishes a direct link between grading and extraneous matter analysis.

Impurities Reduced

In 1953, when the program was just getting under way, over half of the 86,999 samples submitted were Discs 3 and 4. Two years later, the figure had been whittled down to 37 per cent.

Pointing up the giant strides that have been made to date is the fact that this year, out of 93,709 samples tested, only 0.18 per cent were Disc 4 and 1.93 per cent Disc 3.

When a sample is received at the unique Ottawa laboratory, an amount of 15 grams is measured and dissolved in a solution of sodium citrate. It is filtered through standard discs which retain the sediment, and classified under a microscope.

F. D. Murphy heads a surprisingly small staff that handles operations at the laboratory. As many as 1,600 samples have been processed by six people in one day.

Equipment used in the laboratory was designed by leaders in the Canadian cheese industry, since Canada pioneered in the work.

Numbers of factories submitting samples of cheese in 1958 were 277. In 1957 there were 349, and the year before 339. The reduction, officials explain, is due to a number of small factories closing and amalgamation of others.

HUME FARM IN ELGIN COUNTY SCENE OF 1960 PLOWING MATCH

Selection of the farm of Thomas Hume and Sons for the 1960 international Plowing Match in Elgin County will be of special interest to his former friends and neighbours in Northumberland.

Mr. Hume is a brother of Will Hume in Seymour Township, and son of the late Alex Hume who in his day was one of the prominent farmers of the county and especially in its northern area.

The total area required for the match is about 800 acres. The Hume farm is 300 acres, and the farm of Charles Clarke 140 acres. They are in the Springfield section on the west side of Elgin. The rest of the match area will consist of adjoining unnamable farms.

During 1959 a system of special crop rotation will be put into effect on the farms that are to be used for most of the competitive plowing. Purpose is to provide clover, sod or stubble to plow down in 1960. Special committees will be formed during the next few months to assume organization details of the match.

Thomas Hume was in farming for himself down near Cobourg before moving to Elgin.

COMPENSATION NOT PLANNED IN RABIES LOSS

Agricultural Minister Harkness indicated Monday that the Government does not plan to pay compensation for livestock killed because of rabies.

He said in the Commons that under the present compensation act farmers are paid only when animals are ordered destroyed to help control the spread of disease. Rabies could not be controlled in this way.

On Saturday evening, January 17th, members of St. Andrew's congregation, West Huntingdon, gathered in the church to honour Rev. and Mrs. Walker prior to their departure to their new home in Belleville.

Mr. Barton Haggerty acted as chairman for the following programme, "The Queen;" "Blest Be the Tie That Binds;" prayer, led by Rev. Walker; installation of St. Andrew's Club officers, conducted by Rev. Walker; reading, "The Salt of the Earth," by Miss Margaret Wright; piano solo, Mrs. Lindsay Sills; Junior Choir, "If You Follow Me;" reading, "An Ode To Man," by Mrs. Russell Sills; solo, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," by Miss Beverly McInroy.

Rev. and Mrs. Walker were asked to take seats of honour and an address was read by Bessie M. Fleming. The presentation of a purse of money was made by Mr. Harold Thompson. Following thanks and appreciation extended by Rev. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. S. J. Donnan spoke on behalf of the session and Mr. Harry Thompson on behalf of the board.

The chairman also paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Walker, saying in part, "It has been good to have a minister and his wife of whom we were always proud." The programme closed by a solo, "The Lord Shall Watch 'Twixt Me and Thee," by Mrs. Wm. Donnan, followed by the Mizpah Benediction.

Rev. Walker, a fine Christian gentleman, has often been referred to as a "walking sermon" and Mrs. Walker, who possesses a charming personality, as a perfect help-mate. That they remained twenty years with Stirling and West Huntingdon is outstanding and lasting friendships have been formed. We wish for them health and happiness and pray that God's richest blessing may rest upon them in the years that lie ahead.

Contract for Sewerage System Let for $202,061

SHERK CONSTRUCTION WAS THE LOWEST OF 10 TENDERS FOR JOB

Sanitary Sewers, Pumping Stations And A Sewage Lagoon To Be Constructed

Announcement was made this week by the Ontario Water Resources Commission that Sherk Construction, of Sherston, Ont., had been awarded the contract for constructing sanitary sewers, pumping stations and a sewage lagoon for the Village of Stirling for an amount of two hundred and two thousand and sixty dollars. There were ten tenders submitted and the lowest tender was accepted.

Started in 1953

It was in 1953 that the local Chamber of Commerce first took action towards having a sewerage system for the Village.

Much work was done in procuring facts and figures on the project, a public meeting was held in order that the matter could be discussed and in April 1955, the Village Council agreed to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce to have a survey made of the Village for sewerage. A questionnaire was circulated by the Chamber and the results showed a majority in favour of proceeding with the project. Later the Village Council engaged a firm of consulting engineers to make a further survey and submit estimates on the cost of the project.

Plebiscite

On July 3rd, 1956, a plebiscite was held on the question with a majority in favour and in October Hissey & Barrington, consulting engineers, were engaged to draw plans and submit estimates for sewers and a disposal plant. Tenders were called and the bid of Humphreys and Glasgow, accepted at $315,317.71. However the Ontario Municipal Board rejected Council's application for permission to issue debentures for this amount and the matter was allowed to drop for a time.

Later plans were changed to include a lagoon instead of a disposal plant and Council entered into a contract with the Ontario Water Resources Commission to assume charge of the work. Permission was obtained from the Municipal Board for the estimated expenditure and tenders were again called with Sherk Construction getting the contract.

Local Contracts

A representative of Sherk Construction was in town this week and it is understood that sub contracts will be let locally for the construction of the lagoon, fencing, and pumping stations. The firm will establish a local office and the construction of the sewers is expected to commence around March 1st.

Plans Complete For Legion Carnival Friday, Feb. 6th

Plans are now complete for the Stirling Legion's Annual Ice Carnival to be held at the Stirling Arena on Friday, February 6th. With a view to increased participation by as large a number as is possible, the ice will be open for plenty of skating, both before and after the special events.

The evening will begin at 7.30 p.m. when the ice will be open to everyone in fancy dress for skating and this will continue until 8.45 p.m. During this time the judging for prizes in the following classes will take place. Best dressed girl, best dressed boy, best dressed lady, best dressed gent, best couple, best comic, oldest and youngest skater and special prizes for performers in the "Roped-off Corner."

It is hoped to feature a period of straight racing for various age groups and the complete programme will be given next week.

Squirt Hockey Game

An exhibition hockey game between two Stirling Squirt teams of two fifteen minute periods with no waiting, will be next on the programme. In putting the spotlight on the Squirts this year the management has in mind the thrill of competing before a good crowd of spectators, which these youngsters could get in no other way; and also the encouragement of those who should be our teams of the future. This would be fun and worth seeing.

Immediately following the game, the ice will be open to all who wish to skate and distribution of favours and novelties will help to complete the evening's fun.

Considerable improvement in the Arena over the last few years which has added a great deal to the convenience of the spectators.

Dunbar Sees Ontario Vote This Year

George Dunbar, recently retired from the Ontario cabinet, said Monday there is "no doubt" that a provincial election will be called this year.

Whether it would come before or after the Queen's visit this summer would depend on developments in the legislature at the forthcoming session, he said in an interview.

The former provincial secretary, a legislative member for Ottawa South since 1937, said he will seek re-election at the next election. He will be 81 on April 11th.

Entered Into Rest

WILLIAM THOMAS SHAW

In ill health for ten days, William Thomas Shaw, R.R. 1, Ivanhoe, a well known and highly respected farmer of that community died in the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday afternoon, January 22nd. He was born in Prince Edward County, 80 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shaw and has spent almost all his life in Rawdon Township.

He farmed all his life in the district and took an active interest in church affairs. He was an elder of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at West Huxington and fraternally was a life member of Stirling Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 69.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mabel Hollinger, one son, Milton Shaw, of Ivanhoe, and one grandson, Wayne Shaw, also of Ivanhoe. He was the last of his family.

On Friday evening a memorial service was held at the residence by members of Stirling Lodge No. 69.

The funeral took place from his late residence on Saturday to Beulah United Church for service at 2.15 p.m. with Rev. W. H. V. Walker officiating, assisted by Rev. Stobart.

The pallbearers were Messrs. R. A. Patterson, Volney Richardson, Barton Haggerty, Elmer Wilson, Bonter Rolins and Harry Lovibond.

Interment White Lake Cemetery.

"IT'S AN ILL WIND" . . . A report from Gananoque says that due to the heavy snow this winter, a shovel factory there has been able to increase its working week to five days as compared to four days which the men have been working for the past few years.

Tuberculin Test Successful In County Schools

A meeting was held recently of the management committee of the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association, with president A. N. Hallam conducting the meeting. The Association is pleased to report that a very successful tuberculin testing was completed during the last quarter of the past year, in Grade 9 and 12 of the Secondary Schools in Hastings County. It was the decision of the Committee that this was a very worthwhile project and that it will be continued on a yearly basis.

This testing was done by Dr. Turpel, Director and Medical Officer of Health, Prince Edward County Health Unit. He expressed his appreciation of the excellent co-operation accorded to him at all the schools and wished to thank those who had any part in this work.

A total of 2,115 pupils were tested, with 94 positive reactors making a percentage of 4.5 percent. These figures bring out the fact that tuberculosis among the students in these grades in Hastings County are well within the normal range found through Ontario. All positive reactors have, since the testing, received an x-ray examination and no active cases of tuberculosis were found. This was a most gratifying result of the testing, and one which it is hoped will be maintained in future tests.

A Hotch-Potch History of Lennox and Addington

Mr. Gerald F. Smith, County Court Judge, President of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society, and active participant in many other noteworthy district activities, has accepted an invitation to be guest speaker at the March 5th membership meeting of the Bay of Quinte Branch, United Empire Loyalists' Association of Canada.

Your guess would be as good as any other on what he will talk about, beyond his statement it would be a Hotch-Potch History of Lennox and Addington County. We shall not attempt to steal his thunder by making comments on any possible details of early history for the simple reason we doubt if any man now living is better qualified than he to talk on historical matters in and about his own County.

The meeting will be held in the Memorial Building Assembly Hall, Napanea, Thursday evening, March 5th at 8.00 p.m.

Even though you are not a member of the U.E.L., you will be welcomed to attend this interesting meeting.

Guide Notes

A Guiders meeting reveals the following: We have 28 registered Brownies with five yet to register. They have a balance of $29.08 on hand. Much of this will be used to cover the postage on the large number of Christmas cards the Brownies collect and send annually to a Disabled Veterans' Hospital in England. There were 8 Brownies enrolled before Christmas. At Christmas time the Brownies made 8 house calls to shut-ins for which they should be highly commended.

Guides are 35 in number with two girls, Carol Ray and Sandra West working hard for their Gold Cord. Fifteen badges were completed before Christmas and nine enrolls.

They have their cupboard almost ready for the use of both Brownies and Guides. This was due to the generosity of Mrs. Johansen, of Canmore, Alta., formerly Mrs. Hammond, of Stirling. The Guides have a balance of $80.00 and are planning a tea, the date to be decided upon. The Guides made four Christmas visits and were warmly welcomed by those they called upon. Thinking Day will be here on February 22nd and we are to attend St. Paul's United Church.

Rangers will soon be well organized, under the very capable leadership of Mrs. Don Williams. The Local Association are planning a bake sale to help finance the Ranger Group. Rangers are the adult movement of the Guides.

Would any interested person or persons be available for Guide and Brownie leadership. Some new leaders are needed, so if you are interested, please call your District Commissioner, Mae M. Kent, phone 2258.

Many serious falls occur in bathrooms, points out the Ontario Safety League. A bath can be a special hazard to the elderly, and infirm. They can be helped greatly by the provision of a grip-rail on the wall, and a suction mat inside the bath.

$330,000 Expenditure Will Be Approved By Hastings County For Road Work

A county roads and bridges bylaw calling for an expenditure of $330,000 for roads expenditures for 1959 was approved by Hastings County Council at their inaugural session last week.

Thursday, Council approved of the roads and bridges committee report, read by chairman Reeve Alfred Wickett of Thurlow, which called for approval of above figure.

The amount is $4,000 less than the figure approved by the Ontario Department of Highways for expenditure in 1958.

Of the total an amount of $54,750 would be for suburban roads and $275,250 for expenditures on county roads and bridges, overhead, machinery repairs and other items. The total amount would include nearly $80,000 for construction on county and suburban roads.

Loss Three Miles

One of the highlights of the report was that as the result of annexation approximately three miles of suburban road had become part of the city of Belleville.

Subsequently the suburban roads commission had assumed an additional 11.4 miles of county road bringing the present mileage to 14.5 miles, or over double the previous mileage.

Mr. Wickett noted that suburban roads were intended as arteries to bring rural traffic into the city and return and suggested that the present mileage of suburban road was more in line with what was fair.

Additional county road taken on by the suburban commission is about three and a half miles on Road 6-A extending from what is known as the Dave Thrasher corners to the 5th Concession of Sidney; six-tenths of a mile on Road No. 6 between Highways 14 and 37 on Cannifton, and the portion of the fourth concession of Thurlow and Tyendinaga extending easterly from Corbyville to the Shannonville sideroad.

Boy Scout Week

Boy Scout Week will be observed in Canada from February 16th to February 22nd, ending on the 102nd anniversary of the birth of the Founder, Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell. The week will feature many parents' nights, father and son banquets, open nights, and public displays. February 22nd is known as B-P. Sunday, when thousands of members of the Movement will attend church services commemorating the life and works of the Founder.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(by Rev. C. R. Rudd)

A British Entomologist who was engaged with the Australian Forces during the second world war has recently written a travel book. In it he describes what he found in the island of New Guinea when he visited the headquarters of the Christian Missions there. Without any bias he points out the obvious benefits Christianity has brought to this great dark island.

The story of Christianity in New Guinea is also the story of the Bible Society. Almost all the growing literacy on the island has been the work of teachers and missionaries and translators, and the natives prize above all their possessions this Book which has brought them such light. About 15 dialects in New Guinea now have some part of the Scriptures, which are read and re-read in the villages and market places, and homes of the people by trained native teachers and evangelists.

Me And My Little Dog

I've throttled the oil-burning diesel
Also the coal-burning hog
Now I sit back and just take it easy
Along with my little red dog.

Forty years at the scoop and the throttle
In the rain, the snow and the fog
Now I spend my time hunting and fishing
Just me and my little red dog.

He's just a little red dachshund
But at eating he sure is a hog
But to me he's the best dog living
He's mine, my little red dog.

Although he's Wee Wag's Bruno
He sure is not in a fog
For he comes when I call "Bozo"
He's there, my little red dog.

And when my life's span is over
And of this strife I'm no longer a cog
I hope they find room in heaven
For me and my little red dog.

Horticultural Society Hints

House plants, just like their cousins out in the garden, are sometimes troubled by insects. Here's what to do about some of them.

Give your plants a thorough dusting once a month, with a soft cloth. Dust cuts down on light the leaves receive. Clean the leaves gently with warm water, making sure that you support them from bottom as you work. Leaf bath removes dirt and pore-clogging grime. It also keeps insects from settling comfortably on your plants.

Red spider and mealy bugs are controlled by bathing the leaves in warm, soapy water, followed by application of an insecticide over the plant.

Isolate the badly infested plants from the others.

Inspect your plants periodically for signs of insects or scale damage. Turn the leaves over and check underneath, that's where most insects are active in their work.

To control scale, purchase a spray that is designed specifically for that purpose and follow instructions.

Potted cacti will benefit from an application of lime. This can be given at potting time by working some ground limestone into the soil. If you overlooked this, pulverized egg shells in the pot will prove effective.

If you've saved seeds from your garden, clean, label and seal in packages and store in a corner of the refrigerator. They will keep their growing ability much longer in a cool place.

Male Jail Employees Get Increase

An across the board increase of $130 annually for all male employees at the Hastings County jail was authorized by members of County Council as they concluded their inaugural session at Shire Hall Friday afternoon. The increase is retroactive to January 1st.

Discussion on jail salaries was one of the last items on the business agenda with council accepting the recommendation of the finance committee. Jail employees had requested an across the board increase of $500 together with a 40-hour week and establishment of a salary schedule.

No action was taken on the 40-hour per week request while setting up of a salary schedule was deferred. Neither was action taken on a request for salary increases for the matron and assistant jail matron.

The wage for casual male employees was raised from 8.00 to $8.50 per day.

Final item of business before the session ended was the decision to inaugurate a pension scheme for certain county employees. According to Thurlow Reeve Alf Wickett who, with Reeve Doug Spencer, of Tweed, had been authorized at the December session to investigate the matter, there might be 15 county employees who would be interested in a pension scheme.

Reeve Wickett, along with Reeve Spencer and Reeve Carl Whittemore, of Deloro, were named a committee to further investigate and bring a proposal to council at the April session. The way will be left open for township salaried employees to enter the plan if so desired.

Councillors also raised their own committee pay to $10 per day with 10 cents per mile, both ways, to be paid by way of travelling expenses. Salary of the clerk-treasurer was increased $500, and that of the deputy clerk $250 per annum, both retroactive to January 1st.

Grants Authorized

Grants authorized by council included an amount of $900 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind; $100 each to the educational associations in South, Centre and North Hastings; $150 to the various village libraries and that in Huntingdon Township and $50 for libraries at Batawa and at Dunganon.

Among the bylaws passed was one restricting construction along certain county roads to a specified distance from the road line. The move was made to protect the county from heavy costs of moving buildings should the road allowance be widened at and future date. The bylaw will not apply to incorporated villages or to hamlets.

No action was taken on a motion for a grant of $500 to the Lake Ontario Development Association. During the morning session Belleville Alderman Jack Ireland, member of the Belleville Industrial Commission, introduced Mr. George Colling, of Brighton, L.O.D.A. representative, who asked for a grant.

210 in County Home

During the Thursday morning session, the report of the county home board of management was read by chairman Ray Hannah. The report showed there were currently 210 residents in the home of which 111 were male. During the past year there was a total of 74,759 patient days, or an average of 204.8 residents per day.

Home superintendent Ken York brought members up to date on the progress made in putting into effect the new system of charging residents at the home full maintenance costs of $70 per month.

He noted that the system of collecting full maintenance costs from those financially able to pay had been directed by the Ontario Department.

He admitted that in many cases it would be impossible to collect the full rate. Where a resident had only the old age pension residents were allowed to retain $8 per month with the home collecting $47.

Experiences of the past should pave the highway to the future, rather than creating a road block.

License Deadline Is March 18th

Midnight on March 18th is the deadline for securing motor vehicle license plates and drivers' permits. Chief of Police W. Sutherland reported that he had been advised to this effect Friday last.

The thermometer registered 22 degrees below zero on Monday, January 26th.

served as Superintendent of Mount Pleasant Sunday School for the past nine years has relinquished his office and Mr. Eric Summers is the new Superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hubble attended the funeral of her brother, Mr.
Clayton Richardson, River Valley, on Wednesday afternoon.

Quarterly Official Board
Thomasburg Circuit

The Quarterly Official Board of the Thomasburg United Church Circuit held its annual meeting at Moira on Wednesday evening. Due to road conditions there were not as many present as was desired. The W.A. ladies served a wonderful banquet at 6.30 p.m. in the new Sunday School room.

Mr. George Dyson presided over the meeting held in the auditorium of the Church. Reports were received and adopted. The Secretary was authorized to request Presbytery to leave
Mr. Dyson for another year.

The officers elected for 1959 included Mr. Fred Preston, Representative to Presbytery, with Mr. Wesley Farrell as alternate; Arthur Wilson, Recording Stewart, with Mr. Mac Saries as assistant; Superintendent of the M.&M. Fund, Mrs. William Grant.

Following the regular business period the meeting was closed with prayer by Mr. Dyson.

Record Run of Hogs

The Canadian hog run of 165,000 in the middle week of December was a new seasonal peak for 1958, as reported by the Meat Packers Council. With the exception of the war years, 1941, 1943 and 1944, and 1952, the marketings were the largest for a December week of any previous year.

The all-time high for December was 228,000 in the third week of 1943; and the all-time for any week was 235,364 in February, 1944. Although domestic consumption of pork has responded to lower prices, the Agricultural Stabilization board has accepted some 8 million pounds of surplus stock cuts.

A man never gets so rich that he can afford to lose a friend.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

ARE YOU BLUE?

Anybody in the audience feeling blue? Well, Mister, I can tell you how to cheer up, but fast!

Simply get up off whatever you are sitting on and do something fine for somebody else. Try it — go out! Go and give your wife a kiss, or pat one of your youngsters on the head, and make yourself smile.

Everybody gets blue. Everybody can get over it. Abe Lincoln tells us that the average man is about as happy as he makes up his mind to be. So make up your mind, buddy!

When I get blue I lecture myself. I have a few 3 by 5 filing cards on which I type out things I like to remember. One of the items is a cheer-upper, written long, long ago by some fellow called Marco Morrow. I read it this morning when I got out of bed tired and gloomy, with a head cold and too much work ahead of me — work which I could have had done if I'd been less lazy. I'd like to pass those words along to you. Cut them out and paste them in your hat.

"It is a glorious privilege to live, to know, to act, to listen, to behold, to love. To look up at the blue summer sky; to see the sun sink slowly beyond the line of the horizon, to watch the worlds come twinkling into view, first one by one, and then myriads that no man can count, and lo! the universe is white with them; and you and I are here."

Cynics may point out that here in Winnipeg, where I'm writing this, the temperature is 23 below this morning; the sun is getting up, not sinking; the sky is grey with clouds, and the smoke from the Central Heat plants is pushed straight south by the icy wind. Sure, that's so. But the frost is lovely on our windows, the den where I write is warm enough, the smell of percolating coffee reaches me, the rent is paid for this month, and I'm alive.

Best of all, I'm the white-haired boy around home. This morning, at breakfast, I said to my wife, "Boy, you're looking lovely this morning." She was, too, but she nearly dropped dead with surprise when I said so. Giggled, too. And suspiciously asked me what deviltry I was up to. I didn't tell her. I'm not going to tell you, either.

How To Cut Taxes

Two concrete suggestions for reducing taxes — making welfare payments only on the basis of proved need and slashing defence expenditures — were made in a recent Toronto speech by Stuart Armour, economic adviser to The Steel Company of Canada, Limited.

Mr. Armour told the National Concrete Products Association that putting welfare payments on a proved need basis need not be politically disastrous, because labor unions had already done so during recent strikes in Canada.

"Labor leaders and their doctrinaire socialist collaborators have long condemned the application of a means test with respect to welfare transfer payments," he said. "Yet when the United Steel workers and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers were called out on strike, they themselves doled out relief only to those members who could prove real need."

This is an example the federal government should follow, Mr. Armour said, "for the indiscriminate handing out of relief payments has been one of the prime causes of the inflation which has afflicted Canada since 1946."

In the long run our national economy can no better afford the costs of universal welfare payments than could the treasuries of two of our richest and most powerful labor organizations."

He added: "Perhaps now that the head of the AFL-CIO (George Meany) has officially stated that labor leaders cannot control the labor vote, our politicians will take heart and start acting in the interests of all the people."

If there are to be any reductions in taxes in Canada, or any halt to inflation, there must be cuts in government spending, he said.

"We Canadians have got to regain control of government spending. Only by so doing can we generate the private capital without which a private enterprise system must eventually be destroyed."

Recalling that a group of Hamilton businessmen last year threatened to withhold their taxes unless they got action for off street parking, increased police protection and traffic lights, Mr. Armour said: "I am convinced that if we are to preserve our fruitful system of free enterprise in Canada, all Canadians have got to develop that kind of spirit. We taxpayers have got to assert rights which are ours since we are the only source from which government can secure the funds it needs short of revving up the printing press."

"Our initiative in the matter of creating a state apparatus so powerful and so practically immune from our control, is apparent every time we ask the state to provide a new transfer payment to its citizens, be it price support, an increased pension, a hospital plan, increased subsidies for the arts, or what have you."

Mr. Armour termed the shrill and persistent demands to save the Arrow as reminiscent of the kind of unemployment "cure" once used by Hitler and still used by the Communists.

"All defence expenditures tend to be inflationary," he declared. "The sort of nonsensical behaviour which uses expenditures on useless weapons must be stopped by taxpayers in a do-it-yourself rebellion."

"We taxpayers must now insist that the size of the highest paid military, naval and air establishments in all the world be cut back. If this means reducing the civil service tail as well as the brass-hatted head, that's the way it has to be."

In trying to halt production of the CF-105 (the Arrow), the federal government made a real effort to get out of the defence spending bog, Mr. Armour said. "Special pleaders and those who still like to play at being soldier" have no valid argument in holding that scrapping the Arrow would cause unemployment.

"Hitler promised the German people he would solve their unemployment problem, and did it by putting six million men into uniform and defence production. Hitler certainly cured German unemployment but at the cost of the most dreadful war in history."

What Others Say

HEARTENING NEWS

(Letter Review)

It is heartening as Parliament begins its new session to hear from Mr. Alan Macnaughton, MP, an expression of views on how control over public spending can be made more effective. "Public spending since the war," says this immediate past chairman of the House Public Accounts committee, "has undergone three fundamental changes. A large part of it goes for highly technical projects which are difficult to estimate and usually cost far more than budgeted for... There is a much greater volume of government spending than heretofore and consequently opportunities for greater waste." A third point, Mr. Macnaughton notes, is that examination of the estimates tends to be too cursory, with honorable members focusing their attention on the increases sought, rather than demanding economies in static expenses. Moreover, he points out, the attitude towards granting of supplementary estimates tends to be "more and more automatic."

Remarks of former House Public Accounts chairman are a reminder of importance of work of both Estimates committee and Public Accounts committee, and desirability of having both committees established on a non-political, non-partisan basis. Doubtful, however, is Mr. Macnaughton's argument that Public Accounts committee would be more effective if its sessions were secret. Public, as well as Parliament, needs more knowledge of public accounts and their relationship to taxation. Spending appetites of public officials might be curbed by the knowledge that they might later be called upon to justify before a public session of the Public Accounts committee their outlays of the taxpayers' money.

PICKETING — PRIVILEGE ABUSED

(The Rural Scene)

In this country we have no law making picketing lawful nor any law making it unlawful.

Picketing is a privilege allowed, by common consent, to striking workers to enable them to inform the public that they are on strike.

That privilege does not include the right to resort to violence or any form of lawlessness, or to interfere with non-strikers going about their lawful business.

But on every hand we see non-strikers prevented by pickets from entering struck plants; we see shipments of goods prevented from leaving such plants; we see non-striking unions violating their own contracts and refusing to cross picket lines to get to their work.

We see the whole building industry shut down because one small union established picket lines around all the large building projects, and all the other unions refused to cross those picket lines.

The purpose of picketing is to win the sympathy of the public. But the performance of it seems calculated to cause the public as much suffering and inconvenience as possible.

The Good Driver

Man has developed the technology of communications to a point that almost passes belief. News from the farthest corners of the earth is relayed to our ears or eyes within minutes.

Even while driving, the car radio links us with the world outside. We can be kept informed of the progress of momentous elections; we know about a ball being hit, hundreds of miles away, while it is still in the air; the romantic decisions of film stars are rushed to us almost as soon as the syndicated gossips can get to a telephone.

There is even the car telephone. Driving at 50 m.p.h. the big shot can pick up the receiver to find out the price of tin on the London market a few minutes ago, or call home to check if the plumber has been there to fix the leak.

Even with the car-borne miracles of today in the field of communications, some matters remain an impenetrable mystery to us. One of them often is, what the driver ahead intends to do at the next intersection.

A man in a moving car is vulnerable at all times, the Ontario Safety League points out. On crowded highways no one is ever more than a second or two away from a potential crash. Disaster can zoom into the picture at any moment from front, rear or sides.

Traffic hazards would become almost negligible if communications were perfect — if every driver knew what every other driver was going to do. Until universal mental telepathy is developed we cannot hope for perfection in driver-communication. Until that comes along we could make the roads very much safer by using every possible means to communicate necessary information to other drivers.

Hand signals, mechanical indicators, brake lights, horn, headlight dipper switch, adjustments in speed, car positioning — are all available to help the good driver inform and warn other road users.

A driver who fails to communicate information to others is discourteous; he is also increasing the likelihood of disaster to himself.

Grants Based On Checks of Assessment

Communities which have not yet adopted equalized assessment have their grants based on spot checks made by regional assessment officers, Maurice Jelly, one of the officers of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

In this way the municipalities' own assessments do not determine the size of grants received from the province. A report of an address given by Mr. Jelly in Cobourg Friday incorrectly stated that Mr. Jelly said "A high or low assessment could seriously determine the size of a government grant."

BOTH CAUSE AND EFFECT

Because paper is a vehicle of culture, its use in itself generates its own further use. Similarly, the printed word on paper sacks and paperboard containers stimulates a demand for more paper and paperboard.

"Yes, Doctor...Wednesday will be fine!"

When it's time to have the dentist check daughter's teeth, Mrs. Smith naturally reaches for the telephone, that helpful "member-of-the-family" with the habit of getting things done.

When you look back over your day, it's sometimes surprising to realize in just how many little ways the telephone has helped you... how it adds so much convenience and comfort to everyday living.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WHITE SCOURS IN SWINE A MAJOR PROBLEM

Veterinarians in Ontario report that infectious white scours presents one of the major problems in the nursing litter. Anything that lowers the resistance of very young pigs may increase susceptibility to white scours. Anemia, vitamin A deficiency, cold, damp quarters may contribute to the development of the disease. Once the infection occurs in one litter it may be spread to neighbouring litters on the feet of the owner or by direct contact of infected pigs with uninfected ones if the pigs are allowed to come to a communal creep.

The main sign of the disease is a whitish or creamy diarrhea. The pigs rapidly lose condition and become very rough in appearance.

Ontario Veterinary College officials report that prevention of the disease consists of keeping the pigs' resistance to disease at the highest possible level by preventing anemia, feeding balanced rations to the sows and providing good warm, dry farrowing and nursing quarters. If the disease occurs a special effort should be made to isolate the infected litter away from other litters. The infection may cause serious losses, consequently a veterinarian should be consulted and treatment started at the earliest possible time. Cleaning and disinfection of the farrowing pens between farrowing is most important. If this procedure is not carried out the infection may become seeded down in the pen and affect subsequent litters.

RANGE-REARED PULLETS LAY MORE EGGS

Two tests that seem to prove the superior egg-laying ability of range-reared over confinement-reared pullets were conducted at the Experimental Farm, Brandon, Man., reports poultry husbandman E. D. Walter.

Each test involved a separate group of 1800 birds and showed little to choose between the two rearing methods as regards livability, body weight gains or feed requirements during the growing period.

In the laying house too their body weights were about the same and, contrary to common belief, the range-reared birds consumed as much feed as their opposite numbers. The incidence of feather picking and cannibalism was slightly higher in the confinement-reared birds but was never a serious problem. Mortality rate was less than three per cent in each group.

No difference was noted either in age at first egg, egg weight or feed needed to produce one dozen eggs.

In both experiments however egg production was three per cent higher in the range-reared birds and these birds were approximately four ounces heavier at the end of the test than the pullets reared in confinement.

THE SELECTION OF FARM EQUIPMENT

What should a farmer keep in mind in selecting equipment for his farming operation?

The first thing he should consider is the type of tractor he is using on his farm, states Prof. C. G. Downing, Department of Engineering Science, Ontario Agricultural College. Any equipment which depends on the tractor for its use should be purchased with a view to its being suitably mounted on, pulled, or driven by it. If more than one tractor is used, both should be kept in mind for different types of equipment that may be necessary to completely mechanize the farm.

If equipment is too large for the tractor, it will create an overload condition for the tractor engine, resulting in premature wear and breakdown, high maintenance costs, and a poor job of work. If equipment is too small for the tractor, the result is waste of fuel and high-speed operation with its effect on safety, as well as replacement costs.

If a farmer has a relatively small acreage, it may be more economical to have it farmed by custom arrangements rather than by buying an expensive piece of equipment for the small acreage.

A piece of equipment should be used as much as possible during any particular season of use. Thus it is better to use a machine for 100 hours during a year than for 10 hours a year for 10 years. Machines deteriorate to some extent when not being used, through exposure to weather and corrosion, and they may become obsolete over a period of a few years, with a new machine becoming available which will do the same job more efficiently.

There are thus many factors to keep in mind when buying farm equipment, and all of them should be considered before any purchase is made.

PUREBRED ANIMAL REGISTRATION LIKELY TO HIT 180,000 IN 1958

Canadian registration of purebred animals has steadily accelerated until it is estimated that in 1958, 180,000 certificates will be issued.

Dr. F. J. Leslie, chief registration officer, Canada Department of Agriculture, said an all-time high in volume of work was attained in October when 20,706 certificates were issued.

In 1957 registrations totalled 161,430 and just five years ago there were 146,112. These numbers are made up largely of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and dogs.

Registration of purebred stock took on increased importance with the homesteading of the Canadian West around the turn of the century. Railways offered reductions on the transportation of stock westward, and formation of provincial record associations followed in the wake.

How It Started

Confusion resulted from the many individual sets of records, creating inter-provincial difficulties and interfering with the export trade. It was against this background that federal authorities in 1905 led a move to nationalize livestock records.

Purebred livestock associations now derive authority from the Livestock Pedigree Act, administered by the Department of Agriculture. It provides for the formation of one association for each breed. The act requires associations to include in their constitutions certain conditions, such as identification of individual animals, rules for registration, holding of meetings and so forth.

Rules Are Strict

All articles of the constitution and any amendments require approval of the Minister of Agriculture. The act calls for a penalty of fines or imprisonment for misuse of certificates or registration.

It also provides for affiliation of various breed associations for the purpose of issuing registration certificates.

This work is conducted by the Canadian National Livestock Records which contrary to popular belief is not a section of the department of agriculture. There is, however, a close correlation of work, and department employees check all registration certificates for correctness. Certificates carry the signature of the chief registration officer on behalf of the Minister of Agriculture, and bear the department seal.

Affairs of the CNLR are administered by a committee, which, in turn, is elected by a board consisting of representatives of the various affiliated breeds (each association is entitled to one representative for every 500 members). The board meets annually to study the committee's report on the previous year's operations and to draft the programme for the ensuing year.

Breed Associations

There are 28 breed associations affiliated within the Canadian Livestock Records. Additionally, a number of small breeds of purebred stock are represented on the board by Dr. Leslie and have their affairs administered by the records committee.

The Holstein-Friesian Association is the only one not affiliated with the CNLR. Although coming under the Livestock Pedigree Act, the association looks after its own registrations. Thus it can be seen that the CNLR is an organization belonging entirely to the various breed associations, and whose management does not come under the department of agriculture despite widespread belief to the contrary.

FARM SAFETY CONFERENCE

How can farm people live safely?

This will be the theme for a two-day Farm Safety Conference to be held on February 10th and 11th at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph under the joint sponsorship of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Ontario Department of Transport.

The conference will bring together a selected group of some 300 public spirited Ontario farm people representing every county and district in Ontario. The conference will be an essential prelude to a thorough, province-wide Farm Accident Survey to be conducted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the full year from March 1st, 1959 to February 29th, 1960. The survey will determine the accident picture in Ontario and help give direction to farm organizations and the Ontario government in a safety education programme designed to reduce the number of all accidents on Ontario farms.

The first day of the conference will deal with the current farm safety education programme of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and the objectives of the Farm Accident Survey. A Farm Safety Session will then discuss various aspects of farm safety, including safety in the farm home, and fire safety on the farm.

The second day will deal with various aspects of traffic safety, and how it can be achieved through enforcement, through traffic highway, traffic, and automotive engineering, through education and community organization, and through driver licensing and the point system.

The conference will draw to a close with a discussion by several rural leaders on the subject: "What can farm people and their organizations do to help prevent accidents?"

OLD OAT VARIETIES TO FIGHT NEW RUST

Two older oat varieties are expected to be useful breeding material for plant breeders trying to find a type resistant to two new forms of stem rust.

Search for a variety with complete resistance began when two new races of oat stem rust, classified as 8A and 13A, were found in eastern Canada in 1957 and fears were entertained that they would spread.

The staff at Canada Department of Agriculture Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, found that two selections from the crosses Hajira-Joanette and Hajira-Banner showed resistance to 8A and 13A as well as all other known races.

There are 15 identified races of oat stem rust on the North American continent and one unidentified.

Of the oats grown commercially in Canada, Garry and Shield are resistant to all races except 8A and 13A.

Clinton, Clinton and Lanark are resistant to 8A, and Roxton is resistant to 13A, but all are susceptible to other races, including Race 7 which is one of the most prevalent forms of stem rust.

The plant breeders began the task of making crosses between the different resistant varieties and also began testing older varieties and selections. They were fortunate to find selections with superior resistance sooner than they had hoped.

THE USE OF INSULATION ON THE FARM

What are some of the points to keep in mind when considering the insulation of any building?

Thickness of the insulating material is one important factor, states Prof. F. H. Theakston, Department of Engineering Science, Ontario Agricultural College. Other qualities being equal, the thicker the material the better is the insulating property.

Location of the material is a factor also. Since more heat tries to escape through the ceiling than the walls, insulation thickness at the top of any room should be greater than that on the walls.

To increase the insulating property of material, a "vapour barrier" is often used. It is always placed on the warm side of a wall or ceiling. For example, in dairy barns and poultry houses, where there is warm, moisture-laden air inside, the barrier would be placed against the inside of the insulation material; in cold storages or deep-freeze units, where the warm side is the outside, the vapour barrier would be placed on the outside of the wall.

There are a number of types of insulation material. There are batt types which come in standard sizes to fit in between studs and joists. There is loose insulation which can be poured or blown into spaces in the wall, but this has a tendency to settle after a period of time and thus does not give uniform results. Reflective insulation is another type, and works on the principle of reflecting heat back into the room.

The proper insulation of all buildings on the farm which house animals, poultry, or people can be a very sound investment both from a production, point of view and a heat-saving principle.

If you wish to be perfect, follow the advice that you give others.

Men who make big money are careful with their small change.

THE FOOD BASKET

FREEZE YOUR OWN BARBECUED CHICKEN

Perfect, tender, 2 to 3 pound chickens continue to be a pleasing sight to budget-minded shoppers. The good quality and reasonable price of these young birds makes them just about the best choice in meat for January.

If you are one of the over 300,000 Canadian consumers who has a freezer in her home, you have probably been stocking up on these small birds. And if you like to keep some prepared foods on hand, ready for emergency meals or parties, you will want to try this suggestion for freezing barbecued chicken. You can use your own recipe for the Barbecue Sauce but if you would like a copy of the one used in Canada's Kitchen write to the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

To Barbecue the Chicken

For 6 to 8 servings use 5 to 6 pounds chicken legs, breasts and wings. Dry the pieces to absorb excess moisture. Dip pieces into the Barbecue Sauce to coat thoroughly. Arrange skin side down in greased shallow baking pan. Place pan on a low rack in very hot oven (425 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Turn chicken skin side up and baste with additional sauce. Bake 10 minutes. Baste and bake 5 minutes longer. (If you plan to freeze if for reheating later don't let the chicken get too brown.)

To Package

After barbecuing the chicken, chill thoroughly. Package in special freezer bags or cartons along with some of the sauce and freeze. (Sauce may be frozen separately, if preferred.)

To Thaw

Place unopened packages or cartons of chicken in a wire rack and thaw at room temperature, allowing 2 to 3 hours. OR thaw overnight in the refrigerator.

To Reheat

Place thawed chicken and sauce in a greased shallow pan. Arrange pieces skin side down, one layer deep, and cover pan completely with a piece of aluminum foil (dull side down) or other type of cover. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degs. F.) for 20 minutes. Remove foil, turn pieces skin side up, baste with sauce from pan and continue cooking, uncovered, until thoroughly heated, 15 to 20 minutes longer.

Note
Tests were also done on reheating the frozen barbecued chicken without thawing. The flavour was excellent, but the appearance did not score quite so high. If you wish to use this method the home economists suggest that you keep the pan closely covered throughout the reheating time and allow 50 to 60 minutes in the oven (After the first 15 minutes in the oven, pieces of chicken that were stuck together may be pulled apart easily.)

CONSERVATION NEWS

LAND USE PLANNING

As our population increases and as Canada's status in the world grows, we should and are giving more thought and attention to the care and use of our natural resources.

The Department of Lands and Forests is responsible for the proper care and management of the areas of Crown land in the Province of Ontario whether they be forested or not. An inventory of this land and the timber growing on it has been made by department personnel; management plans have been drawn up and it is the task of our staff to see that they are implemented. Planting plans for barren and non-reproducing logged over areas are a part of the management plan and our nurseries have increased the production of nursery stock to meet present and future needs.

The protection of our forests from fire and insect damage is one of the main objectives of the Department for without this protection, the management and planting plans are futile.

There are, of course, forest values other than wood; watershed, recreational and wildlife values and because there is an ever increasing demand on the part of the public that these values be sustained, the subject of proper land use is being studied. Land use planning is needed not only to assure that land will be utilized to its best advantage, but also because growing crops of trees takes a long time, we need a constant policy on land use to carry out satisfactory forest management plans.

The first step on our part in connection with land use planning is to determine what land within the District is in the Crown. There are numerous claims on the part of the public, to land in the Tweed District and extensive inspections and reports are presently being made in the hope that we will be able to settle these claims in the near future.

With the question of land ownership settled, the government, and private land owners will be better able to proceed with their plans for proper land use.

Ontario is a big Province and with proper land use planning we should be able to enjoy a plentiful sustained supply of our natural resources.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Graham and children, of Oshawa, spent the weekend at Wellman's and Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pollock entertained the W.A. to a pot luck supper on Friday evening and Miss Donna Carlisle showed films which were very interesting.

Women's Institute Grandmother's Meeting

The January meeting of Wellman's Women's Institute, was held at the home of Mrs. George Watson January 21st with a good attendance despite the bad roads and rough weather.

Mrs. Sealey opened the meeting in the usual way with all singing the Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer. Correspondence included a letter from the Provincial President, Mrs. Annie Haggerty, of Napanee, along with the reports of the standing committees from the Provincial offices, and a "thank you" card from the family of the late Aughty Hoover.

The President reported on the layette being made for the Unitarian Service Committee.

Roll call was answered by telling the story of your wedding day. This was followed by the grandmothers singing "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and the mothers sang "Home Sweet Home" in honour of the grandmothers.

The motto was well given by Mrs. Jim Pollock entitled, "Do not resent growing old many are denied the privilege." The topic was given by Mrs. Jack Dunham, "Modern women are more help to their husbands than than grandmothers were." Mrs. Dunham urged each one to not lose sight of our main purpose in life.

Mrs. Clifford Clancy and Mrs. Fred Beckett gave a vocal duet, "Juanita." Mrs. Gerald Clancy rendered a piano solo. Mrs. John Carlisle gave a reading in two parts, "The masculine viewpoint of the Women's Institute in earlier days" and "The ladies viewpoint." A contest on birds was conducted by Mrs. D. Clancy. Mrs. Sealey closed the meeting with the Creed and the National Anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pollock, Virginia, and Lyle, were supper guests Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rainie and Linda.

He previously resided in the Stirling area where during his active years he was engaged in farming. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church at Stirling. His wife, the former Kathleen Lyons, died 38 years ago.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Frank (Mae) Sprentall, of Stirling; Mrs. Jean Green, of Frankford, and Mrs. T. W. (Kay) Stride, of Trenton, and two sons, Walter, Weyburn, Sask., and Percy, of Toronto. One son Ernest died in 1918.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Baker, Miss Kate Chard, and Mrs. Percy Clarke, all of Brandon, Man., and one brother, Alfred Chard, of Winnipeg. There are eight grandchildren.

R. E. (TED) GOULD

A life-long resident of Stirling and district, Robert Edward (Ted) Gould died at his home at River Valley on Friday evening. He had been ill for the past three months and was in his 74th year.

Born in Stirling he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Gould. For many years he was the popular and efficient C.N.R. expressman in the Village and was held in high regard by a wide circle of friends. Following his retirement he resided at Billings Bridge, near Ottawa, for a few years before moving to his late residence at River Valley.

A member of St. John's Anglican Church, he is survived by his wife, the former Laura Graves, two sons, Frank Gould, of Chatham, and Arthur Gould, of Ottawa. Another son, Kenneth Gould, died in 1927. Also surviving are four grandchildren.

Social Evening At Wellman's

A very delightful time was enjoyed at Wellman's on Friday, January 23rd when Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pollock opened their home to the members and families of Wellman's United Church Women's Association for a pot luck supper and social evening.

A sumptuous meal, consisting of every variety of good things to eat, proved a very fitting beginning to such an enjoyable evening. Everyone enjoyed a friendly visit while the ladies were washing up the dishes.

When everything was in order again a very entertaining programme was put on by the younger members of the group. Rev. W. G. Fletcher performed the duties of chairman for this programme, which had been very capably arranged by Mrs. Omar Dracup.

The numbers consisted of vocal solos by Lois Morton, Janet Dracup, Mary Dracup, Anne Watson and Janice Clancy; piano solos by Carol Beckett and Janet Fletcher; vocal duet, by Frieda Graham and Lois Morton; dialogue, by Ralph and Lloyd Dunham. These numbers were followed by pictures of the re-opening of Wellman's Church and the turkey supper after the decorating of the church and the installation of the heating unit last spring. These pictures and others of the Stirling Centennial, which were shown by Miss Donna Carlisle, of Stirling, proved most interesting and brought to a close a very successful evening.
